Dougherty Loses Home Ward and Every Other But Second in Mayoralty Contest

EPUBLICAN CANDIDATE'S LEAD IS 408

otal of 3,808 Votes Cast Is 64 Larger Than Original Registration.

OMEN LARGE FACTOR

her "Man" Polls and Vote, Working Side By Side With Politicians of Sterner Sex; Defeat of Democrats Most Decisive on Record Here.

Overcoming many obstacles, Charles Mitchell, Republican candidate for ayor, was elected to that office yesrday and with him was elected every her candidate on the ticket. Not a ngle Democrat was given an office ide from minority inspector in the rious wards.

Complete returns show that Mitchell rried the city by a margin of 408 otes, leading every ward with the ception of the Second.

In the West Side, where support for ougherty was expected, both wards en for the Republican candidate and e Third, notoriously Democratic, vung around to Mitchell by the comrtable majority of 73.

The election was the most interestg for the office of mayor ever conicted here. The heaviest vote polled the history of the city was recordd, there being a total of 3,803. This even a greater number than were iginally registered, that total being ly 3,739. Since the final registraon day, however, names have been ded at Uniontown, 489 being placed the books just prior to election. is leaves only 425 of the 4,228 perns entitled to a ballot who did not te.

Mitchell polled a great lead in the fth ward. Both candidates reside in at precinct but the Republican rolled just 234 more votes. This was 5 more than the total received by ougherty. The vote was 453 to 219.

Much credit is given the women for itchell's election. They worked from orning until 7 o'clock in the evenng and then those who were serving the boards or as watchers remainduntil the count was completed.

The presence of the women resultd in somewhat more order than is ually the case but it did not stop the irited arguments between the men, hich were plentiful. Women of opposing parties had some warm words emselves at times.

Although the Republican majority r mayor is 408 the impression prealled throughout yesterday that the esult would be close. Early last vening conservative estimates were iving the election to the winning andidate by a plurality of between 00 and 150 votes. The support reeived on the West Side and in the hird ward, however, gave Mitchell an nexpected lead.

When the Sixth ward reported the ight plurality of 13 votes for itchell, some suprise was expressd, but this was greater when it beame known that the Seventh had iven him 59 votes more than oughtry.

The total vote polled by Mitchell as 2,066, as compared with 1,658 for is Democratic opponent. Dr. S. D. Woods, the Socialist candidate, got a otal of 15 votes in the entire city.

The one ward carried by Dougherty as the Second. In this precinct itchell polled only 170 votes. This as 13 less than the 301 received by he Democratic candidate.

Neither side halted in its efforts hroughout the day. Automobiles ere used to carry voters to the polls nd the tremendous vote rolled up is the best indication of the results of he efforts of the two parties to get ut every person possible.

Returns of the election were receivd by Mr. Mitchell at his funeral parors in South Pittsburg street. Mr. ougherty, who became suddenly ill unday evening in his office, was not ble to conduct his own campaign nor o receive the returns. He was taken o Pittsburg on Baltimore & Ohio rain No. 15 last evening and admitted o the Mercy hospital for examination nd an operation. Mrs. Dougherty nd a nephew, T. A. Courtney of Somerset, accompanied him.

Diphtheria Victim Recovers.

Raymond Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. arry Pratt of Smithfield, who has een ill of diphtheria, is improving nd expects to be out in a few days.

Miss Smith Returns.

Miss Edna Smith of Dawson, clerk r C. W. Downs, who has been ill at er home for the past week, returned o work this morning.

Mayor-Elect Mitchell

Woman for School Board Chosen at S. Connellsville

John Davies, Republican, and Miss Margaret DeBolt, Democrat, were elected members of the South Connellsville school board yesterday, both for two-year terms. E. W. Keffer ran for mayor and received 78 votes on the Republican ticket. He got 76 on the Democratic ticket under the name of William Keffer. There is a difference of opinion in the borough as to whether it was legal to elect a burgess at this time.

The results of the vote follow:

TO FIRE BOMB SALUTE

Italian Committee Plans Feature for Armistice Day.

The Italian committee has arranged to fire a salute of 21 bombs on Friday morning, when the Armistice Day parade starts from the West Side. These bombs will be set off in a field near the street.

One feature will be aerial bombs, one containing an American flag and the other an Italian flag, which will be set off at the same time, releasing the flags high in the air.

Kohler Cleveland's Mayor.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9—Conducting a campaign without the backing of an organization and without making a speech, Fred Kohler, former chief of police of this city, reached the height of his ambition when he was elected mayor of Cleveland, over William S. Fitzgerald, Republican incumbent, and five other candidates yesterday.

G. O. P. WINNERS ON DRY PLATFORM IN NEW JERSEY

Stood for Strict Enforcement of Prohibition, Dems for Repeal.

HYLAN HAS HUGE LEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—One state, Kentucky, has passed from Republican to Democratic control as a result of yesterday's elections, as shown in returns available here this morning. In Maryland, where the lower house of the legislature and 13 out of 27 members of the senate were elected Democrats increased their control, and it was believed in Baltimore that the Democrats had secured a dominating position in both houses.

In Kentucky the Democrats regained control of the legislature, lost to the Republicans two years ago, and claimed 53 out of 100 members of the lower house and 19 out of 38 seats in the senate. Mrs. Mary Flaucry of Cattletsburg has apparently won the honor of being the first woman to be elected to the Kentucky legislature.

New Jersey Republicans claimed to have elected 41 assemblymen out of a total of 60 seats contested and asserted the party lineup in the senate would stand as it did last year, 15 Republicans and six Democrats.

The "wet and dry" issue played a prominent role in that state, the Republicans standing for strict enforcement of the state prohibition act while the Democrats favored its modification or repeal.

Only one governorship hinged on yesterday's balloting, Virginia electing State Senator E. L. Trinkle, Democrat, by a large majority over H. W. Anderson, Republican.

The voters of Ohio apparently were heavily in favor of the soldiers' bonus proposal, announcement being made that it would be carried by 500,000. The bonus proposal would call for an amendment to the state constitution which would authorize the issuance of state bonds up to $25,000,000, out of which Ohio veterans of the war would be paid $10 for each month in the service, the total payments to any man not exceeding $250.

Fatal election riots occurred in Kentucky, the centers of disturbance being in Breathitt and Estill counties and the city of Louisville. Ten persons are reported to have been killed and nearly a score wounded.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Democratic candidates headed by Mayor John F. Hylan, made a clean sweep of the principal city and county offices in Tuesday's election, the mayor receiving the unprecedented plurality of 471,986

ALL DINING ROOM AIDS AT VETERANS' LUNCHEON TO MEET

With Mrs. Laura Clark, Chairman, at Armory Tomorrow Evening.

ASSEMBLY OF DONATIONS

In final preparation for serving the luncheon to the veterans on Armistice Day, Mrs. Laura Clark, chairman of the dining room committee, has requested all the members of her committee, including the ladies who will have charge of the tables and their assistants, to meet at the armory tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The details relating to the work of serving the meal will be discussed and an understanding reached as to the duty to be performed by each member of the committee.

In order that the articles donated by individuals for use in preparing the lunch may be assembled with the least inconvenience, the residences of the following persons have been designated as central points to which the donors will bring or send the articles they have prepared:

Mrs. George B. Percy, 400 Johnston avenue.

Miss Myrtle Bixler, 422 East Murphy avenue.

Harmening's drug store, 515 West Crawford avenue.

Mrs. John Fosselman, 312 East Cedar avenue.

Mrs. D. D. Frette, 213 East Crawford avenue.

Mrs. W. G. Grouse, Gibson avenue, South Connellsville.

Mrs. Z. S. Moon, 121 Carnegie avenue.

Mrs. William Robbins, 333 East Crawford avenue.

Mrs. William McCormick, 602 McCormick avenue.

Mrs. D. K. Dilworth, 201 East Washington avenue.

Ira J. Moon will have charge of two trucks which will start at 8 o'clock on Friday morning to collect the supplies and transport them to the armory. It is therefore urged that all donors be prompt in making deliveries at the places designated.

The general formation and route of the parade, which will introduce the program of exercises on Friday, was decided upon at a meeting of the general committee last evening. The military contingent will have the right of the line in the parade. The units comprising it will form on Ninth street, West Side, with the right resting on West Crawford avenue. The floats of the industrial section will form on North Eighth street, facing south, and the fraternal and other organizations will form on South

CRUISER WITH UNKNOWN DEAD AT WASHINGTON

Presidential Salutes Greet Remains on Way up Potomac.

DUE AT FOUR O'CLOCK

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—The cruiser Olympia brought to his home land today America's unknown soldier, representative of the thousands of soldier dead overseas.

The program designed to express the nation's honor for its war dead began when the Olympic turned this morning into the Potomac river.

The battleship North Dakota, lying at anchor off the entrance to the river, dipped her ensign in salutation and her guns tolled welcome.

As the cruiser proceeded toward her berth at the Washington navy yard, Fort Washington and Washington barracks gave the presidential salute of 21 guns.

The Olympia was scheduled to dock at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Speeding Motorist Breaks Woman's Leg, Continues His Dash

Mrs. G. M. Clasper of South Seventh street, West Side, was painfully injured last night at 8 o'clock when she was struck by an automobile on the Brookvale road. Mrs. Clasper, with Misses Julia and Catherine Duffy, was on her way to the home of Miss Catherine Ruane at Brookvale to attend a meeting of the S. T. E. club. They were walking toward Connellsville and the car was going in the opposite direction. The Misses Duffy were walking on the inside of the street car track and Mrs. Clasper on the outside. They saw the approaching car but thinking it would stay on the macadam road they kept on going.

The machine, the driver of which is believed to be known, fractured Mrs. Clasper's left leg in two places below the knee. She also received bruises and suffered from the shock. The driver did not stop to investigate the accident. Shortly afterward another car in which three men were riding, drove up. The occupants carried the injured woman into the Mahaney home at Brookvale, where she was given first aid until the arrival of a physician, who removed Mrs. Clasper to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fuehrer in South Eighth street, Greenwood. She is resting as well as can be expected.

"Big Tim" Murphy Guilty.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9—"Big Tim" Murphy, union leader, former state representative and alleged gunman, was found guilty today by a jury in Judge Landis' court of plotting the $600,000 mail robbery at Dearborn station last April. Vincenzo Cosmano, protege of Murphy; Edward Geirun and Paul Volanti also were convicted

MOST WARD OFFICES WON BY REPUBLICAN PARTY CANDIDATES

Republicans captured most of the jobs in the election of ward officers yesterday. In some wards there were rather spirited contests for votes and in others the candidates were practically unopposed.

Harry J. Berlin defeated J. W. Mitchell, a brother of the successful mayoralty candidate, in the race for constable in the First. Berlin received 207 votes on the Republican ticket to 141 for Mitchell on the Democratic. Joseph G. Tippman received 280 votes for assessor on the Republican ticket to 155 for Berlin on the Democratic. W. C. Bishop polled 295 votes for judge of election and J. M. Gray, Democrat, 140. E. W. Powell, Republican, polled 263 votes for inspector of election and W. P. Schenck, Democrat, 176.

Other ward election results follow:

Second ward—Constable, B. Rottler, Democrat and Republican, 212; judge of election, E. D. Barnhart, Republican, 149; inspector of election, Jacob Miller, Republican, 127; S. Desmone, Democrat, 95.

Third ward—Judge of election, Homer Moser, Republican, 403; E. T. Lyne, Democrat, 308; Samuel Coughenour, Socialist, 24; inspector of election, W. S. Behanna, Republican, 418; S. H. Howard, Democrat, 308; C. M. Wilhelm, Socialist, 12; assessor, E. T. Lyne, Republican and Democrat, 578; David Taxachor, Socialist, 47; constable, J. H. Barnes, Republican, 264; Charles Wilson, Democrat, 378; S. M. May, Socialist, 29; Samuel A. Fasson, Independent, 75.

Fourth ward—Judge of election, A. J. Daniels, Republican, 375; J. D. Madigan, Democrat, 204; inspector of election, Mary G. Vannatta, Republican, 204; J. H. Hoover, Democrat, 214; Ruth Hyatt, sticker candidate, 92; constable, L. I. Ginsburg, Republican, 321; Jacob B. Slonaker, Democrat, 256.

Fifth ward—Judge of election, Frank R. Graham, Republican, 75; inspector of election, Harriet Clark, Republican, 114; Lucy Coughenour Jones, Democrat, 113; assessor, G. W. Campbell, Republican, 278; E. J. Evans, Democrat, 122.

Seventh ward—Judge of election, Eugene Ryan, Republican, 250; S. U. Morris, Democrat, 126; inspector of election, Harry Morgan, Republican, 276; Harry K. Lewis, Democrat, 90; assessor, Matthew Crowley, Democrat and Republican, 357; constable, W. E. DeBolt, Republican and Democrat, 357.

The Sixth ward election officer returns were not available today, the high wind having torn away the return sheet.

Service Flag of West Side Church In National Museum

Thursday evening, in the Covenanter church on the West Side, a special meeting is to be held in honor of the service flag of that church. This flag has been accepted by the United States government and will be placed in the National museum at Washington, D. C. So far as is known it is the only church flag that has been so honored. A lithographed copy of the flag will be on exhibition at the meeting. The program for the evening follows:

Psalm, 148:1-3; prayer; psalm, 24:1-3; juniors, (A) "A Soldier Boy," Charles Fogle; (B) "A Call to Colors," Edward Wilson; (C) "Our Refuge," Gertrude Piper, Louise Kunash, Francis Fogle, Josephine Kunash; (D) "Our Banner," Evelyn Murphy; psalm, 65:1-2, by the juniors; "Covenanter Ideals of Patriotism," C. B. Murphy; "Our Unfinished Task," Andrew Lerch; presentation of service flag, Mabel Murphy and Pauline Jaynes; speech, read by Mrs. J. M. Johnston; "The Meaning of the Flag," Rev. J. M. Johnston; "We Will Finish Our Task," Rev. D. C. Matthew. Now Alexandria; telegram to President Harding; psalm, 76:1-3; benediction.

Republicans Sweep Westmoreland.

GREENSBURG, Nov. 9.—Republicans swept Westmoreland county Tuesday. Judge Charles E. Whitten, candidate for judge of common pleas court, and former Judge D. J. Snyder, candidates for the orphans' court, were elected by large pluralities.

Nevin A. Cort of Mount Pleasant was re-elected district attorney; J. Arthur Thomas was chosen prothonotary; C. Curtis Foight, clerk of courts; John S. Hamberg and Edward Klingensmith, poor directors.

C. M. Stone Leads Ticket in Councilmanic Battle; McCoy Runs Well.

MRS. THOMPSON HAS 2,021

Republican Woman Candidate for Place on Board of Education Has Lead of Nearly 800 Over Democratic Women Aspirants, Returns Indicate

Following in the wake of the successful sweep made by Charles C. Mitchell, the Republican candidate for mayor, every other candidate for office on the same ticket was carried into office on a wave of votes giving them huge pluralities over their Democratic opponents. Councilmen, school directors and city controller, the other municipal offices filled by the voters yesterday, will all be occupied by Republicans.

In each instance the margin was decisive, the closest race being between J. Clyde Whiteley and Ralph K. Long for city controller. The former, who was re-elected, had a majority of 123. In other contests the fight was entirely one-sided.

C. M. Stone easily ran ahead of the field in the councilmanic contest, while John F. McCoy, Democrat, pressed rather closely after James Wardley, the other Republican. M. W. Alter, the second Democratic candidate, polled the lowest vote.

The two present school directors, H. George May and W. W. Haines, both Republicans, were re-elected by big margins. Each was a candidate for the six-year term. Their opponents were women, being Mrs. Nannie P. Marietta and Mrs. Martha M. Buttermore. They polled the usual run of Democratic votes but were far behind. Mrs. Mary A. Thompson, the Republican candidate for the two-year term, defeated George L. Armstrong on the Democratic ticket. She had an overwhelming lead, the totals being 2,021 and 1,177.

H. George May, the Republican school director candidate, polled the heaviest vote of the day. He received a total of 2,434. C. M. Stone, Republican candidate for council, was next with 2,347. There were a number of others who received even more votes than did Mitchell, successful candidate for mayor.

The Republican victories in the city wards were carried into the fight for poor director, jury commissioner and judge of the supreme court in every instance but one, the voters of the party rolled up large majorities for their candidates. In this case, David E. Minerd, running for poor director, received a total of 1,854 votes, against 1,719 for Frank L. Costolo. William H. Rankin, the other Republican candidate, polled 2,219 votes.

Ballots cast for William B. Jacobs, Republican candidate for jury commissioner, gave him a lead of exactly 1,000 over James G. Crossland, his Democratic opponent.

William I. Schaffer, candidate on the Republican ticket for judge of the Supreme court, led the field in this city. Without returns from the Sixth ward, which were not available, he had a total of 1,828. His opponent, E. C. Bonniwell, received a vote of 1,185.

Memorial Hall Proposal Lost, Returns Show

Incomplete returns indicate the defeat of the memorial hall issue.

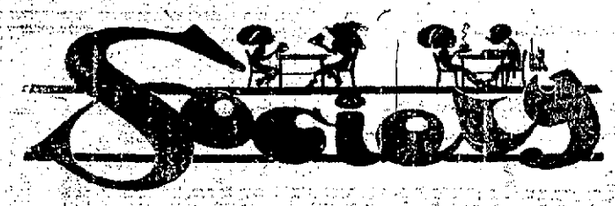

Uniontown, where the hall would be located, voted for it, 1,692 to 985. In Connellsville the vote was 1,857 against as compared with 422 for it. Dunbar township No. 5 voted one for, 56 against the hall. In Saltlick township one vote was cast for it and 48 against. In Franklin No. 1 the vote was a tie, 47-47. Other districts showed:

Dunbar No. 5, 25 for, 68 against; Bullskin No. 1, 15 for, 149 against; Henry Clay 1, 10 for, 37 against; South Connellsville, 35 for, 113 against; Perry 3, 31 for, 113 against.

SCOUTS TO MARCH

Scoutmaster Ralph F. Sliger requests that all the members of Troop No. 5 report at the library at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning for the Armistice Day parade. He wants every scout out in uniform.

The scouts are also to report at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening at 7 o'clock for the banquet and jubilee which they are going to hold in conjunction with Troop No. 3.

DONATION PARTY IS TENDERED REV. AND MRS. LAMBERTSON

Rev. J. H. Lambertson, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, and wife were tendered a delightful surprise last evening when about eighty members of the church assembled at the parsonage in East Apple street. The affair was in the form of a donation party and with the exception of beautiful linens the gifts included mostly edibles. Music was rendered by the church orchestra and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Dainty refreshments, brought by the members, were served later in the evening.

J. O. C. Class Meets.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected and plans for a bazaar discussed at the regular meeting of the J. O. C. class of the First Methodist Episcopal church held last evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, North Pittsburg street. Mrs. T. E. Welding was elected president; Mrs. John Kiferle, vice-president; Mrs. Elmer Snyder, secretary, and Mrs. Arthur Glotfelty, tensurer. A social hour followed the business meeting and refreshments were served by the entertainment committee composed of Mrs. Mitchell, chairman; Mrs. John Fisher, Mrs. John Kiferle, Miss Mary Ellis, Mrs. John Swan and Mrs. Mont Goodwin. Mrs. J. W. Rankin of Brownfield, was an out of town guest.

D. of A. to Meet.

The Daughters of America will meet tomorrow night in Odd Fellows' temple.

G. A. R. Circle to Meet.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Circle No. 100 to the William P. Kurtz Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Gause, department president, of Uniontown, will be present to inspect the circle and all members are urged to attend.

C. E. Society to Meet.

The regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist Protestant church will be held tomorrow night in the church instead of Friday night as previously announced.

Will Observe Armistice Day.

The Protected Home Circle of this city is planning to observe Armistice Day, November 11, when the nation will offer a silent two-minute prayer at noon while the body of an unknown soldier, killed in France, will be laid to rest in Arlington National cemetery, and an address will be delivered two minutes past noon by President Harding. The Protected Home Circle kept all its soldier boys in good standing during the period of the war and has granted them the special honor of membership in the "inner circle" upon their return to civil life.

Shower for Bride.

The Dames of Malta held a miscellaneous shower last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huey in East Connellsville, in honor of Mrs. John E. Hartman, a recent bride. Mrs. Hartman will be remembered as Miss Madge Longanecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Longanecker of Moyer, before her marriage. Various games were indulged in and at a late hour dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Hartman received a number of pretty and useful gifts. Among those present were Mrs. George L. Detwiler, Mrs. W. C. Felton, Mrs. Sora Schaffer, Miss Emma Cruse, Mrs. Cruse, Mrs. Hough, Mrs. Ida Chambers, Mrs. F. W. Risheberger, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Leasure, Mrs. H. E. Sanser, Mrs. Frank Browning, Jr., Mrs. Sadie Reynolds, Mrs. Ida B. Horner, Mrs. Joseph Brant, Miss Lydia Keck, Mrs. H. Heck, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Polly Orbin, Miss Orbin and Mrs. Shannon Overson; Miss Elsie Leasure, Pennsville; Mr. and Mrs. Speckman and daughter, Jane, of Herbert; Mrs. J. B. Longanecker, Misses Florence Longanecker, Blanche Longanecker and Pauline Longanecker and Dorothy and Paul Huey.

Invitations have been received here for the second annual dance of the K club of Washington, Pa., to be held Thursday evening, November 17, in Masonic temple.

Will Entertain Club.

Mrs. James Cowgill will entertain the Emanon club tomorrow night at her home in East Crawford avenue.

Birthday Party.

In honor of her tenth birthday anniversary Evelyn Ruth Barrett was tendered a very enjoyable surprise party last evening at her home in McCormick avenue. About thirty-seven guests were present. A color scheme of pink and green, with chrysanthemums used in decorating, prevailed. The evening was enjoyably spent at various amusements, followed by delicious refreshments. The table was centered with a large birthday cake bearing ten candles. Mrs. Barrett's aides were Mrs. A. C. Furtney, Mrs. Thomas Jones, Mrs. Mary Martin, Mrs. Elizabeth Beatty, Mrs. Theresa Eisley and Mrs. George Gregg.

Guild Meeting Tomorrow.

The Ladies Guild of Trinity Reformed church will meet tomorrow evening at the home of the Misses Rhodes, 229 East Crawford avenue.

New Members Admitted.

Six new members were admitted at the regular meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church held last evening at the home of Mrs. B. S. Swartzwelder in South Prospect street. About thirty members were present and the meeting was one of interest. A social session and refreshments served by the officers of the society followed the business meeting.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Jerome McCormick of West Fayette street, and daughter Mrs. W. R. Jones of Wilkinsburg, have returned home from Indianapolis, Ind., where they visited the former's brother, S. C. Freeman, and in Reelsville, Ind., where they were guests of Mr. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Ellen McCormick, who is 90 years old. She has been in poor health for the past two years. While in Indianapolis they also visited Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Cairns, former well known Connellsville residents. Rev. Cairns, a former pastor of the local Methodist Protestant church, has been failing in health and for the past year has been confined to his bed. He had expected to leave for Denver, Col., the middle of this month but within the past few days there has been such an improvement in his health that it is thought the trip will not be necessary.

SOME PEOPLE PREFER TABLETS

Pepto-Mangan is Sold in Liquid and Tablets—the Same Medicinally.

The famous blood builder, Gude's Pepto-Mangan, can be had in tablet form, as well as in liquid. Some people prefer Pepto-Mangan tablets to the liquid. They are put up in a convenient package. There are people who take the liquid Pepto-Mangan at home morning and night, and take the tablets at noon time.

Medicinally the liquid and the tablet form of Gude's Pepto-Mangan are the same. Any druggist can supply this well-known blood builder. Physicians have prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan for years. It restores the blood to its normal healthy state by increasing the number of red cells. Men, women and children who are run down, weak, pale and sickly, regain normal health by helping the blood to get back its strength. Look for the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package.—Advertisement.

Byron Porter Owner Of a Very Rare and Valuable Old Violin

Byron Porter, one of the best known musicians of the city, is the possessor of a rare old violin which has quite an interesting history.

This violin, which is one of the very few instruments produced by Stradivarius, the famous maker, has been in many different countries and used by many players. No less a celebrity than Ole Bull, the noted Norwegian artist, played this violin and pronounced its tone as marvelously rich.

The instrument has been in America since 1830. Its complete history, including its origin and travels, will form the subject of a paper to be read by a member of the Connellsville high school at the Old Fiddlers' concert to be given at the armory tonight.

Eighth street facing the north. All units will form at 9:30 and be ready to move promptly at 10:00 A. M.

The route of the parade will be as follows: East on Crawford avenue to Pittsburg street; north on Pittsburg to Fayette; west on Fayette to Johnston avenue; north on Johnston to Gibson avenue; east on Gibson to Pittsburg; south on Pittsburg street to Washington avenue, where it will disband.

The military section will disband in front of the armory and immediately partake of the lunch to be served by the auxiliary. Fraternal and other organizations will move east on Washington avenue, the floats on Pittsburg to East Cedar avenue, thence by Race street, Lincoln avenue and Pittsburg street back to the center of the town.

The precise order of the formation in line will be determined at the meeting of the committee tomorrow evening.

Many Will Attend.

That hundreds of folk from Connellsville and the surrounding territory will attend the old fiddlers concert and old fashioned dance at the armory tonight is certain. Many music lovers will be interested in the reading of the history of a rare old violin that is owned by a Connellsville man and that the concert with the old timer's fiddling away will please all listeners is sure. Two of the best figure callers in the state will preside over the figure dances and the round dance music will be furnished by one of the best orchestras in this section. Join your friends for an evening's entertainment you will never forget. Time, 8:30; place, armory; the girl, "That Old Sweetheart of Mine."—Advertisement-9-1t

The Efficient Woman.

We hear a great deal nowadays about the efficiency of women. In the novels of 50 years ago, who ever heard a woman praised for her executive ability, force and energy, in the sense that it is used today? The frail, delicate, helpless ideal of womanhood has passed away. How is it possible to measure up to the ideals of modern womanhood? In the first place, we must keep our bodies in the best possible condition. Thousands of women have succeeded through daily baths, exercise in the fresh air and Lydia E. SCHAFFER BURGESS OF SCOTTDALE

Joe M. Steiner Defeats Sticker Candidate for Tax Collector.

WOMAN ON SCHOOL BOARD

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Nov. 9—Scottdale voters elected the Republican candidate, W. L. Schaffer, for burgess yesterday. On three tickets, the Republican, Socialist and Prohibition, he polled 1,380 votes, almost a two to one majority over his opponent, J. F. Bradley, Democrat, who received 861 votes.

Joe M. Steiner, on the Republican, Democratic and Socialist tickets for tax collector, defeated J. H. Cramer, sticker candidate, 1,228 to 1,047.

J. R. Campbell, Republican, and Ida Parker, running on the Republican, Democratic and Socialist tickets, were elected school directors. The former received 1,105 votes and the latter 1,422. A. F. Yothers polled a vote of 1,007. He ran on the Democratic, Socialist and Prohibition tickets.

There was only one candidate for council in the First ward, he being E. L. Stoner. In the Second ward, with two councilmen to be named, Alva M. Buller on the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition tickets received 560 votes and J. R. Dickerhoff on the Republican, Socialist and Prohibition tickets, 314. Benjamin O. Baldwin, Democrat, was close with 312.

In the Third ward Frank J. Divens on the Republican and Prohibition tickets and Russell R. Graft, Republican, won over Harry Fortney, Democrat and Prohibitionist, and J. J. Finnerty, Democrat. The vote was 407 and 395 to 167 and 93.

George Brennen was unopposed in the Fourth ward for the one-year term and Rodney Pickard, Republican, defeated Fred Schildkamp, Democrat, for the two-year term of the same precinct. The vote was 227 to 138.

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, NOV. 9, 1921.

A NEW FIRE PROTECTION POLICY

The long expected happened Monday night when the fire fighting apparatus was detained by a freight train at the West Crawford avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad long enough to permit a fire to gain such headway on the East Side that the firemen arrived too late to save any portion of the building.

It was only by the rarest good luck that the fire did not occur in a more valuable building or in a section where the fire might have communicated to other buildings and, perhaps, caused the loss of human life.

The danger involved in a concentration of the entire fire fighting equipment in the city on the West Side has long been admitted and a change in the plan has frequently been suggested. Just as frequently has agitation subsided without anything being done. The incident of Monday night ought, therefore, to impress upon the citizens of the East Side the imperative necessity of doing something to reduce the hazard resulting from the present arrangement of bunching all the fire apparatus at a point remote from the most densely populated section of the city.

The incoming city council has an opportunity it should not overlook, a duty it should have the courage to discharge by inaugurating a new policy with respect to fire protection of the entire city. It is confidently believed the new administration will meet the situation promptly and effectively.

SHOULD COME WITH CLEAN HANDS.

The Bell Telephone company could advance its cause and do much to restore it in public estimation and favor in Connellsville if it would have the frankness and discretion to accede to the request of the city council by removing the Brimstone corner pole before it asks the grant of any rights or privileges it does not now enjoy. It would thus keep faith with the city which it is under every obligation to do.

If it would thus act, free of conditions, provisos or demands in exchange for performance of its duty to the public, it would be an evidence of good faith and make good the promise given to assist in making a dangerous corner safer for the public. Such a course would enable the corporation to come before city council with clean hands when making an application for an underground franchise. Moreover, the corporation would thus show that it concedes the public has some rights in the premises and would relieve it from the charge of attempting to club the city council into granting valuable conduit rights.

While there was some disposition to make such concessions at the last meeting of officials with council, the attitude of the company on the proposition generally, where not stated with certain qualifications or reservations, is plainly that of seeking to take advantage of a situation created by its own refusal to do the right thing in helping the city make a much needed improvement.

Some slight progress may have been made toward a solution of the problem but it has not been enough to convince the people of Connellsville that the company has assumed the right attitude toward the city or that its officials have a very broad-guaged or liberal view of the relations a public utility should sustain to a community it serves, or that they are concerned about being prompt or willing to adjust matters and questions satisfactorily to the public and its patrons.

Forgetting all the acerbities of the campaign, all the people of the city, without regard to party, will today think of James J. Dougherty only as a good and worthy citizen and neighbor who is suffering a serious illness. They therefore extend to him their sincerest sympathy and best wishes for his speedy and safe recovery and early return to his place among us.

The ticket repudiators didn't fare a bit better than the ticket handpickers.

There is necessity today to change the old morning-after-election adage to read: "The women do rule."

There's some satisfaction in having been both right and regular.

It was a clean campaign and a clean up as well.

It pays to be decent, even in politics.

The congratulations and thanks of the whole city are due the women who knew what they wanted and how to get it.

The Republican ticket stood for the things the people wanted. That explains why they stood behind it.

Wisdom of Republican Policies

Developments in various parts of the world are conspiring to prove the wisdom of the policies of the Republican administration.

From the very outset the administration turned a deaf ear to all propositions which smacked of state socialism or had for their end the invasion by the government of the field of private enterprise and initiative. As a result, the United States has travelled further on the road back to normalcy than any other nation which participated in the war, and the manner of its journeying has been in strict observance of the rules of sound economics.

Compared with any European nation the United States is infinitely better off in every respect; living costs are lower; wages are higher; industries are more active, and business is more prosperous and on a sounder basis. Take for example, England, where, although conditions are admittedly better than in the European countries, the situation, nevertheless, is critical. The depression of her markets abroad and the invasion of her markets at home have almost brought about the collapse of British industry. Her unemployed are now officially estimated at over 1,600,000, which is proportionately much greater than the estimates of unemployed in the United States. She has attempted to cure the problem of unemployment by the payment of government subsidies to the idle. Official figures just made public reveal the amazing fact that during the past year 46 per cent of the English population has received some form of government hand-outs, costing the national treasury nearly $2,000,000,000 in cold cash, which is equivalent to $100 taxation for every English family. But instead of curing, or even relieving, the situation, it has only aggravated it. Few want to work so long as they can draw unemployment pensions or "doles" from the public treasury.

One evil breeds another and, in an attempt to assist business sustain the burden of taxation incident to all this, and to hold its own in foreign markets, the British government now is contemplating subsidizing commerce and industry. The wiser ones are protesting against the continuation of this futile attempt to lift the country by tugging at the boot straps.

What is happening in England is happening in continental Europe, as, for example, in Switzerland, the home of the League of Nations, employment is seven times worse than it was a year ago. The Swiss government is paying 10,000,000 francs a month in unemployment pensions, with the certainty that this must be increased. Here, too, commerce and industry are asking that they be subsidized in order to assist them to carry the burden of subsidizing the unemployed. The government has already given state aid in the amount of 30,000,000 francs to the watch industry, and other industries are on the list for subsidization.

Only in the United States has the central government pursued the policy of getting out of business and letting individual resourcefulness, industry, and independent self-respect have full swing. The result has been a vindication of the policy of individualism as against the policy of paternalism. The United States has practiced self-reliance. It has emphasized the doctrine of nationality. Instead of looking to a League of Nations, or other outside influences to solve its problems, and becoming thereby dependent upon such influences, the United States has put its hand to the plow and it is turning its own furrow. Communism among nations has the same deadening effect as communism among individuals. The United States, by keeping out of any international communistic association, has preserved not only its nationality but its economic virility and stability.

This has not prevented the United States from doing its full share in the process of reconstructing a war devastated world. As President Harding said in his recent address at Yorktown, Virginia, there must be cooperation among nations, but, as he so ably phrased it, this must be accomplished by "each of them in its own peculiar national way" contributing to the common good, progress and advance of mankind. It is not necessary for this country to belong to any international communism in order that it may fulfill its duty to civilization.

It is well on the eve of the conference to discuss limitation of armaments to keep these facts in mind.

AUTO HITS TRAIN

Nine Occupants Are Injured in Accident at Continental.

While returning from the polls in South Union township last evening at 6 o'clock, Alex Moore of Uniontown and eight other occupants of a seven-passenger automobile were injured when the machine crashed into the side of a Pennsylvania freight train at Continental No. 1 crossing. Mr. Moore suffered serious lacerations of the head and face. He was removed to the Uniontown hospital and regained consciousness a short time later.

The other injured are Mr. and Mrs. John Hernansky of Continental No. 1, severe lacerations of the leg and back; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hernansky, Continental No. 1, both deep cuts about the head, face and shoulders; Joseph Markovich, Continental No. 1, badly cut about the eyes and a deep gash over his shoulder; Mrs. Joseph Markovich, bruises and cuts of the shoulder; Mr. Rankin, driver of the car, bruises and shock. The car was completely demolished.

AT THE END OF THEIR ROPE. By MORRIS

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

TO THE "TOO MUCH TROUBLE" M.M.N.

If we did but the things that we wanted to,
It's little that morale would ever do;
If at "too much trouble" we always balked
And stopped to rest when our strength was tried,
If we never went out of our way or stayed
Close to our task while our neighbors played,
If all that we did was to wear a smile,
We'd never accomplish a thing worth while.

Work is the forfeit of all that's good—
He gets the fire who will saw the wood,
He reaches the top who will dare to climb
With his face set upwards all the time;
This you could nail on the highest post;
He gets the most who has worked the most.
And he who dodges the trouble here
Is dodging his chance for a greater sphere.

Do it, whatever the task may be,
For it may hold glories you cannot see.
What if you'd rather lie late in bed
Or go out fishing or play, instead?
Few of us here on the earth today
Would go to work if it paid to play.
And this is the secret of each man's request—
He gets the best who will give his best.

A fellow must earn what his dreams demands,
Must pay for his joy with his brain and hands,
Must bow to trouble and keep his grin
And conquer his whims if he hopes to win.
Fortune or glory will never find
The man of the "too much trouble" kind,
For this is the lesson that all must learn—
We'll get no more than we're glad to earn.

Boy's Leg Broken.

Evans Butler, 12 years old, of Farmington is in the Uniontown hospital for treatment of a broken leg suffered when he was struck by an automobile while the lad was playing along the National pike.

PARADE IN THE EVENING PLANNED AT MT. PLEASANT

Football Game in Afternoon Assured, Though Scheduled Team Cancels.

UNKNOWN TO BE HONORED

Protected Will Offer Two Minutes' Silent Prayer While Burial Is in Progress in Arlington Cemetery; Other News Events of the Day.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 9.—ComparE footballteam is without a gar for Armistice Day, the Simpson Athletic club of Herminie having cancelled because Manager Lloyd Sha of the local gridders declined to use the guarantee to the figure demanded. However, Mr. Shaw gives assurance that there will be a game at Mick park Friday afternoon, one that will be fully as interesting.

Arrangements are completed for the Armistic Day program in the town. The prade will be held in the evening and will follow the football game of the afternoon. This will be followed by a basketball game and dance at the armory, and a dance in the bank hal by the American Legion auxiliary and Council of Jewish Women.

P.E.C.'s Honor Unknown Dead.

The Protected Home Circle will honor the unknown soldier at the time of burial in Arlington cemetery Armistice Day by two minutes of silent prayer. The circle kept all its members in good standing during the war and on their return to civil life granted them the special honor of membership in the "inner circle."

Easy or Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

It's an an easy matter nowadays for the weak, scrawny people to put on good healthy, solid flesh and become plump and graceful that one often wonders why there are still so many people who seem to prefer to be "all in and bone," ungainly and unpleasante look upon.

Physians have long known that whoever could discover a remedy that would cause the food that one puts into the stomach to turn into good, rich, life-making blood instead of going to waste, would also discover how to put healthy muscular flesh onto thin, ner-nourished people, and this has nobeen accomplished.

If you are thin, under developed, nervous weak, or lack vigor and vitality, you can secure at any good pharmacy moderate cost, a ten days' treatment of EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATE, a new combination of flesh producing, muscle building, strength creating elements that is guaranteed to put good, solid, lasting flesh on our body and to make you strong, healthy and vigorous, or money back.

Physians who have watched the results of the Evans' Triple Phosphates treatment are astonished at its rapid action—often in a month five to ten pounds of desirable weight is gained. Connellsville Drug Co., C. Roy Hetzel have agreed to supply readers of this paper with Evans' Triple Phosphates and guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money returned.—Advertisement.

Superstitions in Wales.

Superstitions of the country folk of Wales are discussed in the quarterly report of Dr. Arthur Hughes, medical health officer of the county of Carmarthenshire. Despite the fact that fortune telling and witchcraft are prohibited under the English law, large numbers of Welsh peasants bring their ailing children to the witch doctors rather than to medical practitioners. One fetish that appeals to these superstitious people is that a witch doctor can cure a child of backwardness by means of making a slight incision in the cartilage of the child's ear. The operation must be performed during the waxing of the moon and the art is handed down from generation to generation, the "doctor" usually being a woman. If a cure does not result the operation is repeated until the child is cured. It is said that many women practice this art and that the people pay large sums to have dull children so treated.—Brooklyn Eagle.

MANAGER HUGGINS IS GIVEN SCANT PRAISE

Wins Pennant for Yanks Despite His Unpopularity.

With Team Full of Prima Donnas Little Leader Had Worst Managerial Task in Major League—Deserves Lot of Credit.

Miller Huggins, the "Mite Manager" of the New York Yankees, has received but few of the nice words usually passed out to a pennant winning pilot.

Huggins unpopular in New York, was in a peculiar predicament. If he didn't win the pennant, it was his job. When he won it, he got no credit.

"Any manager ought to have won the championship with a team like that," represents the sentiment of New York.

"With a team chock-full of prima donnas, Huggins has had the worst managerial task in the major leagues. The players dislike him and the fans ignore him.

On the second Western trip, Huggins was taken sick and was away from the club for two weeks. Roger Peckinpaugh took charge of the club and it won ten straight games.

"Keep Peck in. Huggins can't make them play ball," the fans clamored.

Regardless of adverse sentiment, Huggins deserves a lot of credit for the victory of the Yanks. It is his ball club. Helped by a willing pair of owners, who opened wide the purse-strings, Huggins built up the Yankees from nothing. He has had them consistently near the top, where they used to be a second-division club.

Much of his unpopularity is due to his retiring nature and partly to poor health. He does not mix with the fans off the field and keeps in the background. Huggins is one of the smartest men in baseball and just about the wisest trader in the big leagues. He has made many mistakes in handling his pitchers. Last year he was blamed for the loss of the pennant by the way he rotated his hurlers on the last Western trip.

Huggins is in the unfortunate position of having every one analyze his work to find faults. The bugs never criticize McGraw, because they don't look at him critically.

MARATHON RUNNER IS FOUND

Homer Baker, Discovers Likely Athlete in White Feather, Full-Blooded Indian.

Homer Baker, former international half-mile champion, who is United States government athletic director in the Canal Zone, declares in a letter received by a friend that he has found a Marathon runner, who may be developed for the next United States Olympic team. The athlete is White Feather, full-blooded Indian from the same tribe as the great Tom Longboat. White Feather is with the United States army troops in the Canal Zone. He trains, Baker said, three times a week over the roads from Colon to Gatun.

TENNIS GAINS IN POPULARITY

Few Years Ago National Matches Witnessed by Those Who Happened to Be on Grounds.

Tennis is gaining great popularity in this country. A few years ago the national matches were witnessed only by those who happened to be around the clubhouse. Collapsible chairs and verandn steps were the galleries.

Now stadiums are erected to accommodate the fans and the unprecedented number of 14,000 seats were built to seat the enthusiasts at the recent Davis cup matches.

RICKEY ASKS OBEDIENCE

Branch Rickey's Cards mind him.

During the St. Louis-New York series at the Polo grounds the Cardinals rushed out of the dugout on two occasions, bent on assisting a fellow player who had protested against the call of play.

Each time Branch's mediating voice called out, "Come, now, boys!" and his players boomeranged back to their seats in the doghouse.

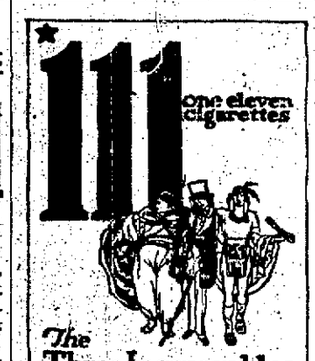

Looks like Branch had good control of his charges.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED AT GAME FRIDAY

Coach Jones is not overlooking an opportunity to make his Tornado football team more efficient in the game in preparation for the Brackenridge American Legion team which meets the locals here Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The game will be played at Fayette Field.

Blackboard drills are following up the outdoor practice regularly this week and it is a safe guess that the Coker Independents will spring something new if forced to it by the strong visiting aggregation.

One of the greatest crowds which ever attended a football game will witness the contest. There will be thousands of persons from out of town here for the Armistice Day celebration and as the football game is the chief attraction between 3:30 o'clock and 7 o'clock many are expected to go to the park. The grandstand and bleachers will be used, and provisions are being made for many more along the sidelines. There will be plenty of space for parking automobiles.

M'MILLIN WILL SUCCEED MORAN AS MENTOR AT CENTRE COLLEGE

Charley Moran, National league umpire, who gained fame as a football coach when Centre college was at the height of its glory two years ago, may be seen in charge of a big Eastern college next year, reports say.

According to those who profess to know, Moran will give up Centre at the conclusion of the coming campaign. Bo McMillin will take his place. McMillin is now winding up a sensational career as a player, having been chosen as an All-American in '19, when he was declared to be the greatest quarterback the game had produced in years.

Despite the fact that Centre's fame was largely gained through the judicious use of a great press agent, Moran has shown himself to be a capable coach. Proof sufficient is the fact that the East is bidding for his services.

HICKORY GOLF CLUB HANDLES

More Than 25,000,000 Feet of Timber of Various Kinds Cut Yearly for Sport Purposes.

Two million people swing golf clubs every week in this country.

They own from 10,000,000 to 16,000,000 drivers, putters, brassies, mid-irons, etc.

More than 25,000,000 feet of 32 different kinds of wood are cut each year for sport purposes.

Hickory is the best for golf-club handles. Persimmon and dogwood are the best for heads.

The wood used for golf clubs, ball bats, tennis rackets, would build a whole street of cottages. But the investment in wood for sports is worth while.

YALE'S 1921 CAPTAIN

A new photograph is given herewith of M. P. Aldrich, half-back and captain of the Yale football team for 1921, as he is about to make a forward pass during practice at New Haven.

FERGUSON KEEPS HIS TITLE

Great Race Seen in Final Contest Deciding Championship of Scottish Rowers.

Over a mile course on the upper reaches of the Clyde the Scottish Amateur Rowing association decides the sculling championship of Scotland for 1921, and a great race was seen in the final, which was won by John Ferguson, Stirling, the holder of the title. J. G. Kerr, Clydesdale, was second. The latter led for most of the way, and it was not until near the finish that Ferguson shot ahead to win.

CHEWS A SPRIG OF CLOVER

Jim Barnes, Open Golf Champion, Qualifies for "Chew Something Club" of Stars.

Jim Barnes, open golf champion, has qualified for the "Chew Something club" of athletic stars.

Barnes gives the little sprig of clover which he held tightly between his teeth part credit for his victory.

The clover steadied his nerves when he needed steadiness most, he said.

Tris Speaker, leader of the Cleveland Indians, starts chewing grass when his club gets in a hole and there is quick thinking to be done.

Ted Ray, winner of the national open in 1920, played with a briar pipe in his teeth.

Pop Geers, veteran race driver, continually chews a cigar.

Barney Oldfield, motorcar speed demon, also chews on a cigar when under the strain of driving long races.

Little things—peculiar habits—stamp color on our great athletes.

Barnes is now reaping a harvest from the prestige given him by winning America's greatest golf honor.

Few people who saw Barnes achieve his greatest triumph will remember how he swung his club. But they'll never forget the dangling bit of lucky clover which he held in his mouth.

BASEBALL SPORT OF FIGURES

Man in Oshkosh, Who Has Never Seen Player, Knows All About Him by Studying Averages.

One reason for baseball's wide appeal is that the game is easily reduced to figures. A man in Oshkosh, who has never seen the Giants or Yankees play, may know as much about them, and more, too, perhaps, simply by studying the averages of the players. One doesn't have to see a man play to know that he is a great player. They can know that by looking over their batting and fielding averages. No other sport offers such opportunity for mathematical revelry.

UNION SERVICE AT DUNBAR M. E. CHURCH TONIGHT

Resolutions on Disarmament to Be Passed and Sent to President.

BIG TURNOUT EXPECTED

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, Nov. 9—Dunbar is alive on the disarmament proposition, and will hold a mass union prayer meeting in the Methodist Protestant church Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at which all the Christian people of the town will unite in passing suitable resolutions to forward to the President to be placed before the Disarmament Conference. Prominent speakers from Uniontown and Greensburg are expected to be present and address the meeting. Rev. Hardin preached an able sermon on the subject Sunday morning, and the other ministers of the town showed equal interest. The Christian people feel that the time has come to strike and strike hard while the iron is hot, and the hope is entertained that much good may be accomplished by presenting properly the subject to the conference in accordance with the plans of the Federated churches. A large attendance is expected at the meeting.

Plans are being made for a Christmas entertainment at Pechin chapel by the Sunday school. A committee was appointed last Sunday and work on programs will be taken up this week so that sufficient time may be had for practice to insure a good entertainment.

Miss Mary Lehman, who has had an attack of diphtheria, is convalescent, and could be going to school if the quarantine were lifted. Although the case developed and was reported early in the previous week, and Pechin school had been fumigated, the notice was not put up on the house until Sunday, October 30.

Thomas Jose has his new residence on Ferguson road near Keffers about completed.

Miss Margaret Moore of Speers Hill, one of the popular teachers at Mount Braddock school, has been confined to her room with a severe case of quinsy for the past week. She is now on the road to recovery, but is not yet able to teach.

The West Penn is putting in quite a number of new ties between Ferguson and Mount Braddock.

Last Saturday was the birth anniversary of our genial friend and fellow scribe, T. Robb Dysarmon of Dawson. We shall not tell his age, for he seems to grow younger with the years and the rejuvenating influence of the teachers' county institute. He goes about disseminating sunshine by his genial smile and kind words, and he has become a necessary part of Fayette county's real wealth, and the interest that wealth pays is far above the legal rate. Our birthday wish for him is that as he goes on down the years his path may be brighter, the sunshine more golden, the flowers sweeter and life more beneficient until the shadows of earth pale and disappear before brighter effulgence of the golden gate as it opens to admit him to that better country where youth is perpetual.

Col. J. J. Barnhart, of Sunnyside farm, was calling on Dunbar friends last Saturday. The colonel is always welcome everywhere. May his shadow never grow less.

CLOCK CURED OF TOOTHACHE

Dentist Carefully Inserts Two New Teeth and Few Rods in Immense London Timepiece.

The clock that hangs eight feet over the junction of the Strand and Fleet street, London, from the east tower of the law courts, has just recovered from an attack of toothache, London Tit-Bits states.

The bells and the intricate mechanism occupy three stories at the top of the tower, and constant service year in and year out has caused the trouble.

When the dynamo which winds up the weights was put into gear recently there was a squeak from the winding apparatus, and a couple of teeth were wrenched from one of the essential cogs.

A clock dentist was immediately called in, and after careful treatment, involving two fresh teeth and the renewal of a number of steel rods, the clock once more strikes the hour with unerring punctuality and has entirely recovered from the weakness developed during recent years.

The rods which have now been renewed had not been touched since 1883, when the clock was first put up.

Few people in London, probably, knew that in this clock at the courts they have a mechanism unique in the history of clock-making.

Invented by a carpenter on an entirely novel principle, it is the only one of its kind in existence, an attempt to make a duplicate for St. James palace having proved a failure.

It is so accurate that it does not lose as much as one minute in three months.

The weight controlling the striking mechanism weighs 1½ tons, and hangs on a wire 85 feet long from the top of the tower into the foundations.

THEORY OF ORDINARY COLDS

Doctor Maxwell Expresses Opinion Trouble Is Due to Development of Bacterial Growths.

I have believed for some years that common colds are due primarily to the development of bacterial growths in the accessory nasal sinuses and that this development is caused by the obstruction of the drainage of these sinuses by the swelling of the nasal mucosa, writes Dr. G. M. Maxwell of Roanoke, Va. Swelling of the mucosa is due in turn to irritation from some foreign substance, such as dust, bacteria and pollen. The bacteria are those ordinarily found in the nasal cavity and cause trouble only when the free access of air into the field is prevented by the swollen mucosa. This opinion has been strengthened by the fact that continuous treatment of spraying with a mild nonirritant astringent will in the majority of cases arrest an acute cold. When a cold holds on for as much as a week I have nearly always found cloudiness in one or more of the sinuses, and get immediate relief by washing out these sinuses with a mild alkaline solution.

The Cold South.

From the observations made within recent years by Antarctic explorers there has been recalculated the average temperature of the southern Hemisphere as compared with the northern, and the results differ, in some respects, from those heretofore accepted. It is found that the mean temperature south of the equator, for the entire year, is about two and three-quarter degrees lower than north of the equator. But the annual variation of temperature in the northern hemisphere is twice as large as in the southern, our summer temperature being much higher and our winter temperature perceptibly lower than those of the corresponding seasons in the southern half of the globe.

Religion Defined.

The word religion is defined by the Standard dictionary as "a belief binding the spiritual nature of man to a supernatural being on whom he is conscious that he is dependent; also, the practice that springs out of the recognition of such religion, including the personal life and experience, the doctrine, the duties and the rites founded on it; any system of faith and worship, such as the Christian religion, the religions of the Orient, etc." The word catholic means "of or pertaining to the whole Christian church, in accordance with the decrees of the seven general councils; not heretical; not schismatic."

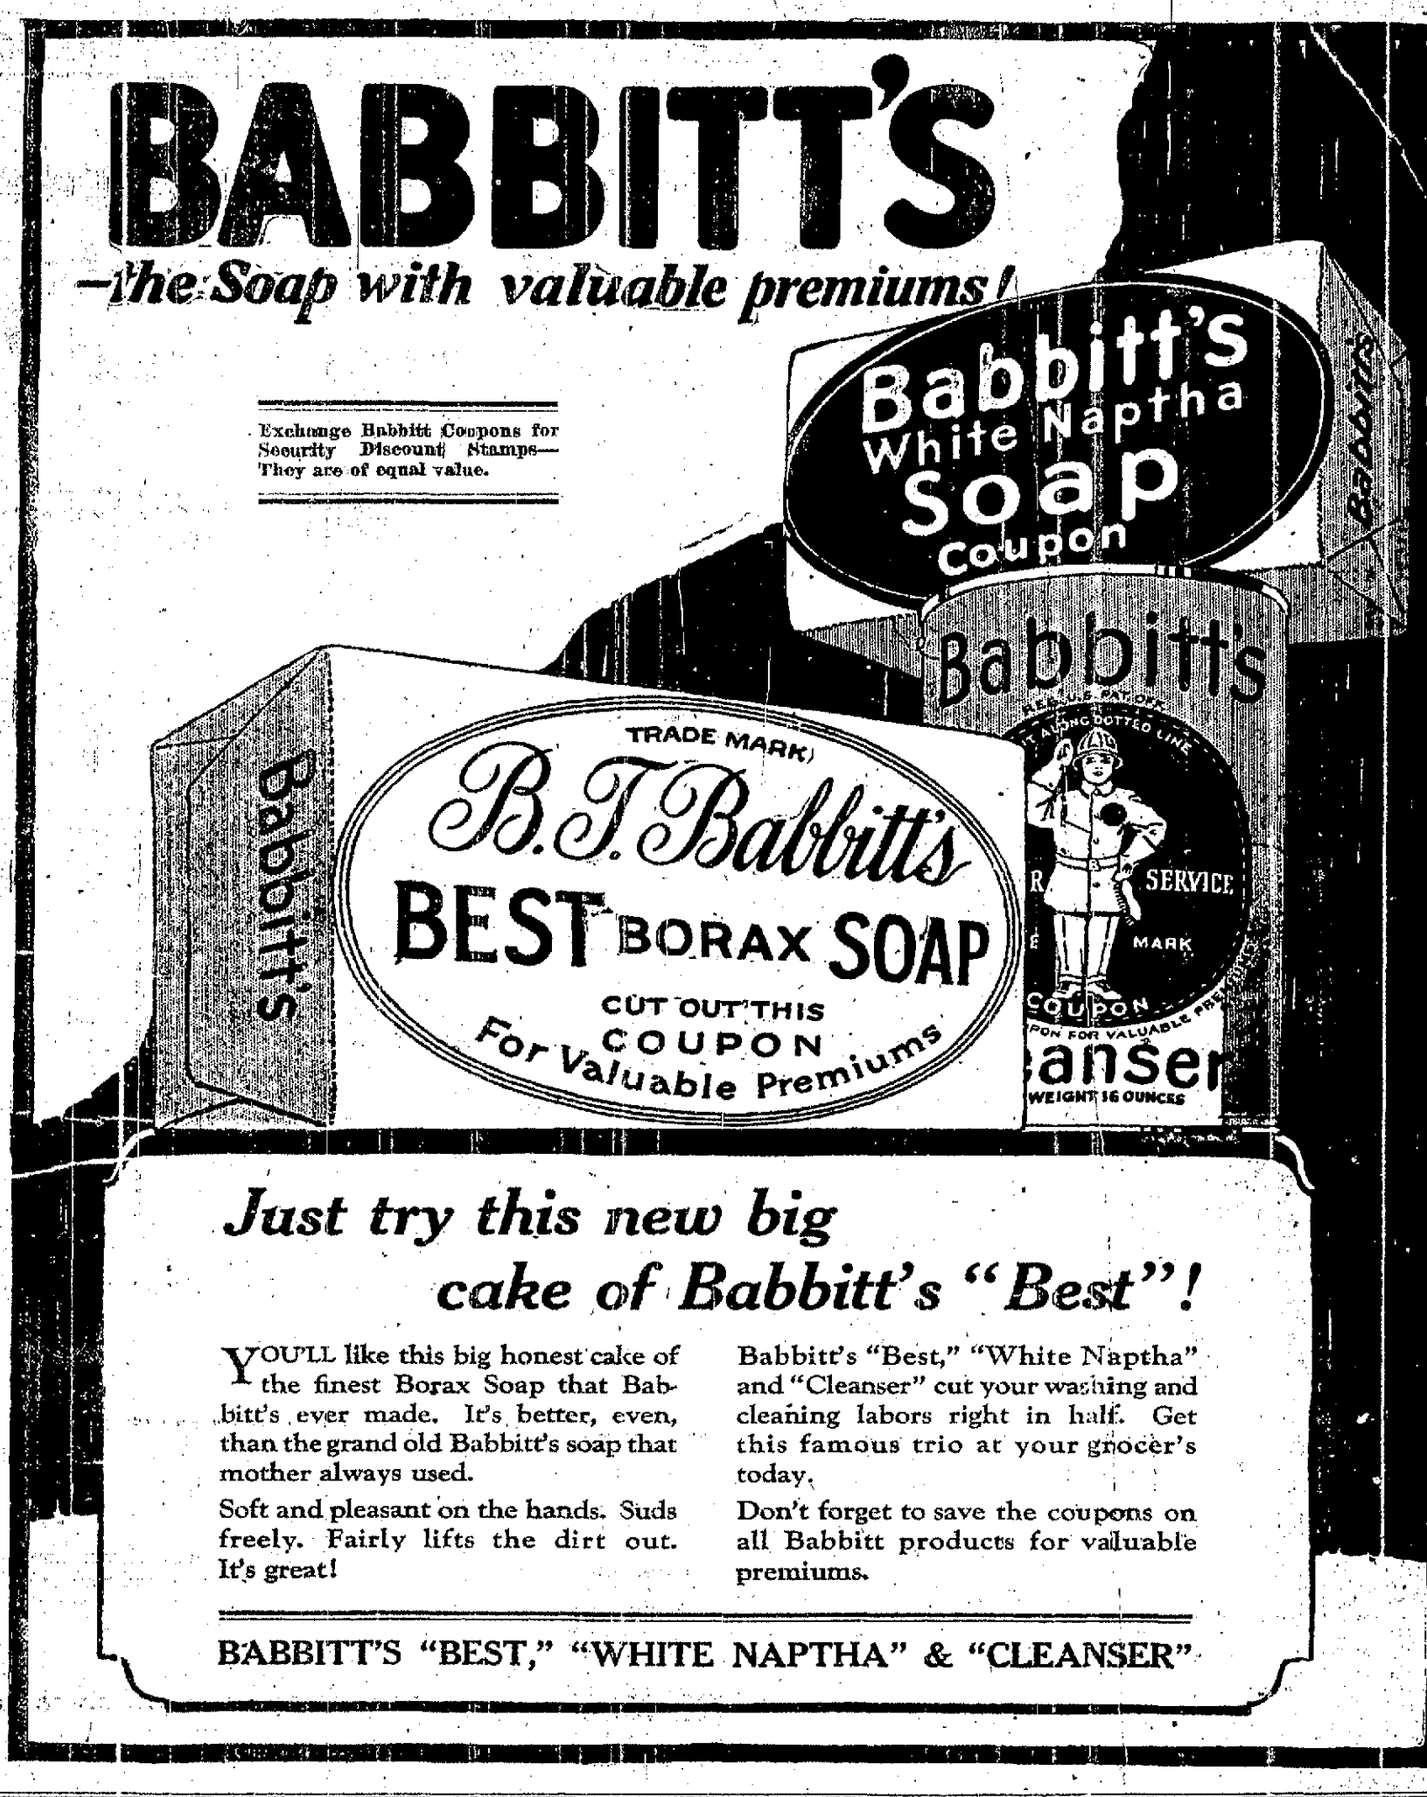

Sifting Out the Fleas.

It is known that plague is carried from one person to another by fleas and that these fleas normally live on rats, but Major F. W. Cragg of the Central Research institute, Kasauli, India, asserts that only certain species of fleas are to blame, and he is now making a special study of all the varieties of fleas in India in an endeavor to find which is really the guilty one.

IN NEW CHAPEAUX

Latest in Millinery Models Are Plain and Simple.

Everything Droops in Some Little Way—Feathers Mark Season for Their Own.

The hat is the beginning and the end of one's whole costume. Yet, observes a fashion critic, if there is any other one article of feminine apparel which is more difficult to do satisfactorily, then let us see it at once. There are cries from the feminine population of "I have looked at millions of hats and can't find one that is becoming." Or, a still worse fate exists for the woman who blithely thinks that they are all more or less becoming and operates on that basis.

This year the hats are changing subtly. They are no longer the "round-and-round" affairs that they have been for some time past. That is, they diverge from this general rule most charmingly. And why is this? Because of the ways of the skirts. If they descend, then the hats must take on other lines in order to conform to the greater dignity of purpose.

The newer hats are plain and simple, to be sure, but they are most decidedly different, even though this difference is of so hidden an origin that one must analyze the elements of the case to be certain where the difference lies.

Everything droops in some little way at least. And if it foregoes that pleasure of trailing its long way over the shoulder, then it has a tendency to take out the season's nature by means of thin and jutting feathers or in pompons or bunches of flowers or exotic fruits of one sort or another. But the feathers are the things that mark the season for their own. On small hats and large hats they are the trimmings that have everything their own way, and there is absolutely no rule about the paths they trail. Now, whichever way one turns where fashionable women are gathered together,

No. 1.—Hatter's Plush and Osprey With Flash of Red in Fruit; Gauntlet Gloves. No. 2.—Sport Hat and Scarf of Colored Felt and Wool. No. 3.—Velvet Streamers and Bunch of Fruit on Close Hat of Felt.

one sees a feather with a difference about its setting, but with that absolute claim to style which must be there to make it one of the season's best.

As one season slides into another there is ever a place for the black satin hat, and actually there is nothing more lovely than this sort of chapeau when it is beautifully done.

SLIP-OVER FROCKS POPULAR

Garment Easy to Make—Any Home Needlewoman Can Turn Out Satisfactory Model.

The slip-over frocks of silk or linen, serge or cotton that are worn with a blouse beneath them to supply the sleeves which they lack are tremendously popular, but they are still smart enough to pass muster. They are the easiest sort of thing to make and any home needlewoman could accomplish one satisfactorily. The edges are sometimes simply turned under and machine hemmed. Sometimes they are finished with a cording, sometimes with a binding. Sometimes a white one, for instance, of linen, will be bound with red silk braid. Such a combination could hardly be put safely through the laundry, but the color contrast is good, and that is all some designers think of, naturally. For the home dressmaker, however, it is well to think of the practical side of life, and washable colors are on the practical side.

For a Frayed Coat.

When a coat is frayed on the front edges remove buttons. With small embroidery scissors rip open the edges, pick out all threads, cut part of the interlining away, and then turn under the top edge of the coat about one-fourth of an inch or more. Baste carefully. Then turn the under side the same way, and put together by hand, neatly. Remove bastings, press, and replace buttons and the edge will look like new.

THE SOFT BROWN FELT HAT

There is dash to this sport hat of soft brown felt with the crown slashed into bands to hold the broad satin ribbon.

TWO OR MORE GOWNS IN ONE

Girdle, Devised to Answer Purpose of Belt, Is an Accessory Which Solves Many Problems.

A girdle seems a simple little thing, a pretty convention in dressing that answers the purpose of a belt. That is the primitive thought about a girdle. But, contemplating the girdle—it is an accessory in attractive dressing that carries a potency of making one gown seem like two, or more.

The scarf girdles now in the shops may be arranged in little front and back panels, in drooping points, that are deftly tucked under the lower edge of the waistline folds, the ends meeting at the left hip in a loose knot. This turns a blouse and skirt into a one-piece gown if the two pieces are of similar material, and if they are not the blouse becomes a tautly fitted waist with straight lines and loose adjustment.

These scarf girdles are three and four yards long and three-quarters of a yard wide. They are shown in silk and satin, and in chiffon velvet—and in all colors. A girdle of sea green chiffon velvet is slightly shirred, lengthwise, the center of the front and back and over the hip lines—it circles the waist and extends half way to the arms and droops to the hip line. It is loosely contoured with soft wires. The closing is at the left side in a small lap that is finished with small buttons covered with velvet.

A girdle of soft black satin is of big roses, the blossoms done in big petals of the fabric. These petals are wired into shape, and the centers are loose knots of the fabric flecked with dots in orange flowa. A red silk girdle is composed in soft flat folds, and at intervals from the lower edge droop loops of ribbon three inches wide, of the same red hue. The closing at the left side is accomplished under a red metal buckle.

A girdle with a stiff lace foundation is covered with folds of lemon tulle strewn with silver dust. The folds are held in place with rows of sparkling little buttons. Another girdle is of white chiffon cloth, about three inches wide, and adorned with rosettes done in soft satin ribbon two inches wide.

LIVED YEARS ON BREAD AND MILK

For More Than Decade Malady of Alabama Woman Was Continually Sapping Her Strength.

Mrs. H. P. Barrett, of Republic, suburb of Birmingham, Ala., gives the facts of her remarkable experience with Tanlac as follows:

"During the past 14 years I have spent more than one thousand dollars trying to get rid of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength, but until I got hold of Tanlac nothing helped me. For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread, and finally even that went against me.

"Before I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac I got so I could eat anything, and I certainly bless the day I first got this medicine for I believe it has added years to my life. The people in my neighborhood were so surprised at the change in me that 14 of them by actual count are now taking Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Connellsville by the Connellsville Drug Co., and by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

REGULATION OF TEMPERATURE

According to Opinion of Experts Proper Mark for the Home Is About 68 Degrees.

Heating experts tell us that churches should be kept warmer than lecture rooms. Whether this implies that the lecture room audience is more apt to forget any discomfort due to temperature than a church congregation they decline to say.

According to the scientists versed in the subject 68 degrees is the proper temperature for a church, while that of a lecture hall should be between 60 and 64 degrees.

Public buildings, the experts agree, should have a temperature between 68 and 72 degrees, while schools should be kept uniformly at 70 degrees.

The proper temperature for the home is about 68 degrees, with bathrooms at between 70 and 85 degrees. Entrance halls and vestibules should be kept at a temperature between 54 and 60 degrees; gymnasiums 60 and natatoriums 68 degrees.

These are the temperatures for hospitals: general rooms, 72 to 75 degrees; sick rooms, 72; operating rooms, 70 to 90.

Experts apparently do not believe in making prisons attractive in cold weather, as they recommend a temperature for them between 50 and 61 degrees. Factories and shops should be kept at a temperature of 65 degrees; boiler shops and foundries, 50 to 60; machine shops, 60 to 65; paint shops, 50.

Why not come out of the shadows onto the sunrise road?

LIFE owes us all something—if we've protected our investment. Many of us try to go on collecting from life without protecting our investment. And we can't. And there's trouble—and disappointment.

What's become of those mornings when it was great to be alive, and every sense thrilled to the inspiration of health and energy and ambition? It was easy to collect from life then. Is it so easy now? Probably life is just the same—and it's ourselves that have changed.

Let's think: Have we protected our investment? Health was the big thing. Sound body and nerves—eat well, sleep well, play well, work well. That was the life. What's become of it? What is becoming of it—now?

Protecting or neglecting? It's very important to know—and in time.

What about coffee and tea day after day? Let's look at the facts: Caffeine in coffee and thein in tea are drugs—well-known drugs with a well-known effect. Useful, perhaps, when a doctor prescribes them. They whip up the nerves.

That may be all right—sometimes. But it may be all wrong all the time. In a great many cases it is all wrong; disturbing to health, as your doctor can tell you—robbing nights of sleep and days of efficiency, harming digestion, bringing headaches and high blood pressure—laying the grounds for serious trouble.

And the fact that the harm comes slowly and may not be noticed for a long time is all the more reason why it pays to be on guard—why it does not pay to take the risk.

Really, then, can you collect what's coming to you from life—the zest, the accomplishment, the "feel" and enjoyment—and trifle with your investment in health?

There's no sacrifice in safety from coffee and tea dangers—not a bit. Postum furnishes the way.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage, rich, comforting and satisfying, deep brown in color, with a coffee-like tang and a flavor which makes you say, "How good it tastes!" Don't think you will miss anything when you change from coffee or tea to Postum. You gain! Ask the Postum users. They know. And they're mighty free to tell you.

Postum has been serving human need for a quarter of a century. It has been a world-wide table-drink these many years—the number of its users growing daily. Postum is sold and served wherever good food and drink are sold and served. And Postum is the mealtime beverage of folks who have decided to come up and keep up where they belong—purposeful, wide-awake, healthy and happy folks who believe it's better to be safe than sorry—particularly when it's more pleasant and agreeable being safe.

If you don't happen to be a Postum user yet,—wouldn't it be better for you to be out on the sunrise road, going up and keeping up, and staying away from the shadows where so many have found trouble and discouragement?

We can't ask life to be fair with us, you know—unless we're fair with ourselves. And daily drugging of the nervous system is not being fair with ourselves—especially when we know the facts as so many physicians have pointed them out.

POSTUM comes in two forms: INSTANT POSTUM (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. POSTUM CEREAL (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

And it's worth as much to keep health as it is to get it back

Order Postum from your grocer today. Enjoy its satisfying flavor. Keep to Postum instead of coffee or tea for ten days and learn the difference in "feel." Let the members of the family share the delights of Postum as a hot mealtime beverage—and remember, there's no danger-line around Postum for the children, as there is around coffee or tea. There's no harm in Postum for anybody.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Connellsville Drug Co. and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if two bottles of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, they will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Allenrhu relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits. Dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed the Connellsville Drug Co. to guarantee it in every instance.—Advertisement.

NITRATE OUTPUT IS CUT BY BLAST

One-Fifth of Germany's Production Wiped Out by Explosion.

WAS MAINSTAY FOR NITRATE

Had Capacity of 100,000 Tons of the Chemical a Year, Just Two-and-a-Half Times Output Planned for Our War-Built Muscle Shoals Nitrate Plant—Germany Has Another Plant With a Capacity of Double That of the Destroyed Works.

One-fifth of Germany's nitrate production was wiped out in the explosion that wrecked the Oppau works of the Badische Anilin and Soda Fabrik on the Rhine in Germany.

This plant, which was the German mainstay for nitrate production during the war, was capable of producing 100,000 tons of nitrogen a year, according to information obtained from governmental sources here.

The yearly nitrogen output of all the by-product coke oven plants of this country would just about equal the production of the destroyed plant, while the Oppau output was two and a half times as great as that planned for our war-built Muscle Shoals nitrate plant which Ford is negotiating for. The wrecked German plant could have supplied one-third of all the nitrogen that we are using yearly for fertilizer, chemical, and all other purposes.

Has Another Big Plant.

Germany has another nitrogen plant, using the same Haber-Bosche process, which was half-way built at the time of the armistice, and which has since been finished. This is located at Merseburg on the Stassfurt deposits, and it can produce twice as much nitrogen as the Oppau plant, or about 200,000 tons a year. From plants that employ the cyanamid and the atmospheric nitrogen fixation processes, Germany has a production of an additional 200,000 tons of nitrogen.

The Oppau plant, which is now in ruins, has been visited by a number of allied military missions since the war. From official sources the following details have been obtained:

Although Oppau was erected during the war, absolutely no expense was spared. The buildings were of concrete and brick work, the power houses were lined with white tiles, the office and laboratories were most extensive, thoughtfully designed and ornate in their decorations. The plant is said to have cost nearly $80,000,000.

Over a hundred buildings made up the factory and docks on the bank of the Rhine, and the whole plant was laid out systematically with ample railroad facilities. The laboratories were located in a fine building, with analytical, physical, technical, and catalytic rooms and lecture room, and this building alone cost $800,000.

Features of the plant were compressors of enormous strength that compress a mixture of hydrogen and nitrogen at 200 atmospheres or 3,000 pounds per square inch. There were also large tanks for holding lignite and water gas, and large storage bins for the chemicals.

The direct process for nitrogen production, or the Haber process, used in the Oppau plant begins with the generation of hydrogen from water gas. This hydrogen is purified and placed under great pressure along with nitrogen obtained from the air by liquefaction. This mixture of gases is brought into contact with what is known as a "catalyst," usually a rare metal like platinum, which helps one atom of the nitrogen to combine with three atoms of the hydrogen and form the ammonia gas whose smell all of us know.

Started Before the War.

From ammonia can be obtained the nitric acid and ammonia nitrate for explosives or the ammonium nitrate, ammonium chloride and mixed salts that are used to keep farms fertile and assure food supply.

Germany began building the Oppau works in 1912, two years before the war, after preliminary experiments at Ludwigshafen, near by. At the beginning of the war, the plant was able to produce only one-tenth of its post-war output.

Due to the war-time expansion of her nitrate plants, Germany became independent of Chile saltpeter, her former source of nitrogen and America's principal source during the war and today. Even with the loss of Oppau, Germany will be able to supply all her own needs for nitrate and will have a surplus to export.

During the past month a plant at Syracuse, N. Y., which uses a modification of the Baber process used at Oppau, has been placed in operation by the Atmospheric Nitrogen corporation, an American concern. The capacity of this plant, however, is just about one-thirtieth of that at Oppau.

Children Burn Father's Savings.

The savings from years of hard work went up in smoke for Alex Nedwecky, of Kenosha, Wis., when his three children found $2,500 in bills hidden in a handkerchief in his "mattress bank." They played with it a while, then threw it into the stove to see it burn.

Fruit From Cacti.

The newest achievement of Burbank, the plant wizard, is the production of cacti that bear fruits beautiful to the eye and with flavor resembling those of peaches, muskmelons, pineapples, etc., yet sufficiently unlike to render them appetizing novelties. They are very sweet, containing from 12 to 18 per cent of sugar.

These fruits may be eaten fresh or put up as sweetmeats. They are of various colors, and their juices, particularly of the red ones (which are of brilliant hues), are utilizable for coloring ices, jellies and candies.

SHAKESPEARE IS ALL WRONG

Police Judge Rules World Isn't Stage, After All, and Fines Woman Impersonator of Men.

Police officers and detectives can spot the shifty eye of a pickpocket, the heavy jaw of a stick-up man—perhaps—and the other peculiar physical characteristics of the male clan of crime. But it takes a policewoman to detect suspicious characters by their dress. Police routine and discipline cannot, apparently, wear off the keen instinct of a woman for the style of a toque, the set of a sash, and the hang of outer garments in the back.

Recently Bella de Turk walked down town. She got as far as the post office. In so doing she probably passed several policemen who marked no sign of suspicious character in the passerby. But at the post office stood Mrs. Dollie Fisher and Miss Emily Greer, policewomen. The eyes of the policewomen discerned at once that the figure of the gentleman walking by would have been set off to much greater advantage had he worn feminine dress, says the Columbus Dispatch. So they accosted him and found it was her. And Miss De Turk, fitted out in a man's cap, coat and trousers and other apparel to match, took a ride to the police station with Mrs. Fisher and Miss Greer. There she refused to solve the riddle of her masculine attire and was released on bond.

"I am an impersonator of men characters, appearing at the movie theaters," she told the court. It then followed that she had neglected to change back into feminine dress after the show. Judge Barry fined her $25 and costs for the oversight and bade her remember that Shakespeare to the contrary notwithstanding, all the world's not a stage.

DULL AND BRILLIANT YOUTHS

Bright Boy Does Not Always Fill Expectations of Friends, While Stupid Lad Surprises.

An ex-headmaster of 25 years' experience has confessed that he was anything but a model boy at school.

He is not exceptional. Some boys who have no lack of brains have not the "examination mind," and in some the intelligence is too vivacious and original to be interested in routine work. There are boys who are really dull and will never be anything else, but there are also boys who are merely unconventional and boys who are apparently dull only because they are slow.

Human beings are like plants. It is not always the tree which grows and fruits the quickest that gives the best crop in the end, says the London Daily Mail. The brilliant boy does not always fulfill the expectations of his friends, while the boy who was supposed to be dull occasionally surprises everybody in after life because his mind was of the sort which takes a long time to mature.

No hard-and-fast rule can be laid down. But, as Dr. Chalmers Mitchell has pointed out, it is a general rule in nature that the longer the period of youth the greater is the intelligence of the adult.

Missed Something.

Thomas, the five-year-old son of a northern Indiana editor, attended a communion service with his parents last Sunday. The service was long, and the editor and his family were in the last group that went to the altar. Thomas went along. He had been curious.

Following the service there was no comment from Thomas until he found his Aunt Edith, a member of another church waiting in the editor's auto outside, to go to dinner with them.

"Oh, Auntie Edith," he chortled, "you missed something."

"Why, what was it?" was her indulgent question.

"We had bread and grape juice," he replied triumphantly.—Indianapolis News.

Historic Warship Doomed.

The old United States warship Granite State, one of the first battleships built by the United States, is about to be dismantled. She left the ways in Maine in 1818, and for years after her completion was used as a training ship at the port of New York, where she is now lying.

In her hold are more than one hundred tons of hand-made copper spikes containing a large percentage of pure gold and silver. The machinery company which purchased her has had numerous requests for souvenirs before the boat is destroyed.

A Bacteria Census.

Not long ago there was made known the result of an examination made by some of the government scientists of the colonies of bacteria residing on the surface of unwashed fruit taken from the market.

This scientist computed the number of bacteria found on half a pound of each of the fruits named, as follows: Huckleberries, 400,000; damsons, 470,000; yellow plums, 700,000; pears, 800,000; gooseberries, 1,000,000; garden strawberries, 2,000,000; raspberries, 4,000,000; grapes, 8,000,000; currants, 11,000,000; cherries, 12,000,000.

Animal Sagacity.

Instances of "animal sagacity," which have been claimed to show reasoning power, are explained by an expert to be due to extreme sensitiveness to smell, to accidental acts, or what is called "associations."

SEAGULLS SAVE DAKOTA CROPS FROM HOPPERS

Incident Recalls How the Birds Similarly Aided the Mormon Pioneers in 1848.

Reports from North Dakota that seagulls recently appearing in McLean county had destroyed grasshoppers which threatened to ruin the crops called attention to a similar incident in Mormon pioneer life in Utah.

Today a notable monument stands in the Mormon temple grounds at Salt Lake City in honor of the birds that saved the early settlers from threatened starvation in 1848. It is a pillar about 100 feet high surmounted by a bronze seagull. At its base are inscriptions detailing the reason for its erection, with illustrations by Mahonri Young, the Utah sculptor.

The first pioneers trekked across the plains into Salt Lake valley in 1847. Brigham Young stipulated that there should be intensive cultivation of the land; crops were grown and the farmers looked for a bountiful harvest the next year.

Then crickets in large armies swept down upon the crops. The farmers tried to eliminate the pest without success. Transportation at the time was difficult, means to obtain foodstuffs from distant points were limited, and the situation looked critical.

When practically everyone had given up hope of saving any part of the crops the seagulls, termed by old Mormons as the "messengers from heaven," appeared. They did not touch the grain, but warred on the crickets, and in a short time had ridded the fields of the pest.

There are no records to show whence the birds came.

The seagull is Utah's sacred bird. It is unlawful to kill it. Many of the people of the state hold it in affectionate memory, and during the summer thousands give of their bread to the birds that may be seen in large numbers at Saltair, a resort on the Great Salt lake.

CRIME DOES NOT PAY

Aged Man Says Fifty Years of It Brought Him Less Than $5.

"For all the crimes of my life I have not realized $5."

John Barry, seventy-six years old, who has confessed to a criminal career of fifty-nine years, one-half of which was spent in prisons, and is now in the Norristown (Pa.) jail awaiting trial on the charge of having committed a theft in Lower Merion township, made this assertion the other day.

To prevent the imposition of another jail term, which might result in his death in prison, Barry is making a strong appeal to Warden McKenty of the Eastern penitentiary and many of his friends for assistance.

Barry spent twenty-six years of his life in the Eastern penitentiary and other institutions. Warden Fellman of the Norristown jail describes Barry as a "model prisoner." In letters sent to friends, from whom he asks assistance, Barry recites his criminal career.

"For all the crimes of my life I have not realized $5," he said. "In most of the cases there was a restitution of the stolen goods." He declares he committed his last crime in an effort to "get even" with Captain Monaghy, head of the Lower Merion police, whom he says opposed a pardon for him and who in "other ways stood in the way of his possible reformation."

RARE SPECIES OF EAGLE

Man Who Captured It Has Presented It to City of Des Moines.

Major, the big eagle presented to the city of Des Moines by Major L. R. MacKenzie, who captured the bird in the Table mountains south of Douglas, Wyo., is one of a rare species. It is a golden eagle, known to the Shoshone Indians as a war eagle, and may live to be one hundred years old. It is now two-thirds grown and when it has reached its full growth it will stand three feet high and have a wing spread of eight feet.

Major MacKenzie, who was spending a two months' vacation trout fishing in the Teton mountains of West Wyoming, was on his way home when he captured the bird. With horses and dogs he was one of a party who were hunting prairie chickens, when the eagle flew low over them and was caught by the dogs.

The species is almost extinct, and is found only among the higher crags.

Two Boys Have Big Day With $3,600

John Stanula and Stanley Klinek, both 12 years old, of Chicago, found a package containing $3,600. It was a big task to get rid of the fortune in one day, but by being generous to their friends they accomplished the feat, after buying everything a boy's imagination could desire. The money had been lost by a bank messenger.

Parrot Gives Fire Call in Dull Town

Polly, a parrot, whose home is in a downtown office of Pana, Ill., apparently disliked the Sunday calm in the business district and brought sudden activities by pulling an alarm that summoned the fire department.

Boy Sets Church Afire to See Engines.

Frank Fullerton, eleven years old, of Pittsburgh, Pa., confessed that he had set fire to a pile of lumber outside a church to see the rush of fire engines. He was tried in the juvenile court.

No Brains.

"You discharged your new salesman?"

"Yes. He's not suited to the automobile business."

"How's that?"

"He tried to sell a $7,000 car to a school teacher."

A Negligent Fellow.

"John Slack has lost his job as road overseer," announced the saint Missourian.

"What did he do?" inquired his wife.

"He didn't have anything to do, and he wouldn't even do that."

CHEAPEST HOLIDAY IN PARIS

Week in French Capital May Be Passed Quite Agreeably on Sum of Twenty-Five Dollars.

Do you know that it is possible to spend a week's holiday in Paris for £5?

It sounds impossible, but it can be done, says a writer in London Tit-Bits.

The £5 does not include traveling expenses, for these vary according to starting point, route and so on.

If a modest hotel is chosen the charge is about 20 francs a night. The tourist should adopt the French habit of having rolls and coffee for breakfast and this should cost him about 60 centimes a day. Luncheon should be taken at one of the numerous cheap restaurants, where it can be obtained for 5 or 6 francs.

It should be noted that there is a small charge for cloth, plates, etc. Two francs is ample for tea and the evening meal should be similar to luncheon. The correct time for it is between 6:45 and 8:30. Sundry fares should not amount to more than 15 francs.

Altogether it should cost 185 francs for food, lodging and sundry fares. There are about 230 francs in £5, and so there remain 45 francs for sightseeing and extras. This should be ample, for many of the most interesting places in Paris, such as the Bois de Boulogne, the boulevards, the world-famed picture galleries and Notre Dame, that can be seen for nothing.

MR. JOHNSON FINDS WALLET

Indianapolis Attorney Wakes Up When He Hears Gleeful Giggles From Weeds on Roadside.

Linsley W. Johnson, attorney, was taking a spin in his car on a country road southeast of Indianapolis the other evening when, approaching a little town, he saw a large, plump leather purse lying between the wheel tracks. Mr. Johnson thrilled with the ancient pleasure of discovery. He stopped the car and climbed out, wondering silently who had dropped the wallet, and how many green or yellow crinky ones were in it. He looked around as he alighted, and saw that the roadway was walled on either side with a pigmy forest of ironweeds, ragweeds, horseweeds and jimpson, forming a jungle that crowded in as if to close the highway.

Walking back to the spot where the purse had been, the attorney rubbed his eyes. No purse was there; instead, there was a wide welt in the dust as if some object had been dragged diagonally across the right-of-way. The same moment a broadside of gleeful giggles burst from the weed jungle, left and right. Mr. Johnson did not pause. He did not even speak. He smiled slightly as he clambered into his automobile. For Mr. Johnson himself was once a boy.—Indianapolis News.

Changed Father's Text.

"We will take as our text this morning," announced the absent-minded clergyman, consulting his memorandum, "the sixth and seventh verses of the 31st chapter of Proverbs."

Never suspecting that his vivacious son and heir had found the memorandum in his study on the previous night and, knowing that his papa had composed a sermon celebrating the increased severity of dry law enforcement, and diabolically changed the chapter and verse numerals to indicate a very different text, the absent-minded clergyman turned to the place and read aloud these words of Solomon:

"Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts.

"Let him drink and forget his past poverty, and remember his misery no more."—New York Sun.

Never Heard of Sunny Side Up.

Irvin S. Cobb, on a recent southern tour stopped for dinner at a tiny railway restaurant in a Mississippi village.

"Well, uncle, what's the bill-of-fare?" he asked the aged colored man who came from the kitchen to look after him.

"De bill o'-fare," said the old man, "am ham, eggs, cohn bread and coffee."

"Then I'll have ham, eggs, corn bread and coffee, uncle," said Mr. Cobb.

The old waiter bowed and shuffled out. But a moment later he put his head through the doorway again.

"Boss," he said, "how ye gwine have dem eggs—blind or lookin' at ye?"—Detroit Free Press.

Remarkable Value in Pianos and Player Pianos

Wherever pianos are sold, the Washburn Piano is known for thoroughly dependable quality. By all ordinary standards, it belongs in a higher price class.

Outside of those expensive instruments laying great stress upon their claims to artistic pre-eminence, few pianos approach the Washburn in beauty of tone, skill of workmanship, and excellence of material.

At the new price level, a good Washburn Piano or Player Piano costs you no more than many of inferior grade. It saves you $100 from the usual price of competitive instruments.

Made by Lyon & Healy

More than a half-century's experience with fine pianos lies back of the Washburn. Together with the vast resources of the world's foremost music house.

It is an ideal piano for the home that the Washburn has or where it is to go. The purity and sweetness of tone help to create the ideal ear for a true reproduction of musical quality.

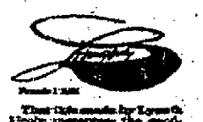

"Made by Lyon & Healy" means much to the piano buyer. It indicates an understanding second to none, of what makes for musical excellence.

A remarkable organization, with unequalled facilities for production. A sincere desire to serve the cause of good music by producing instruments of true worth.

"Made by Lyon & Healy" means that the Washburn comes from the same workrooms that have developed those peerless Lyon & Healy Harps, assembled the finest harp, the finest mandolin, the finest banjo that the world has ever known.

In Use the World Over

The tone of the Washburn Piano—round, resonant, full, and sympathetic—remains unimpaired by the wear of use. So scientifically is it designed, so well built, it can never become "tin-pany," as do so many good instruments.

That tube made by Lyon & Healy guarantees the goodness of the Washburn Piano. Into it has gone the knowledge learned in 57 years of handling high-grade instruments.

Because of this enduring goodness, you will find Washburns giving satisfaction under the severe climatic conditions of Asia—in South America, in Iceland, in South Africa. Truly, the Washburn's leadership in its class is beyond question!

In the Washburn Player Piano, you will find the same superiority. For the Lyon & Healy-made Player is a perfected mechanism. The first-time performer can play it with keen enjoyment, while, to the trained musician, it gives unlimited opportunity for the expression of his interpretive powers.

A Sound Investment

There is sure satisfaction—lasting satisfaction—in the purchase of a Washburn Piano or Player Piano. And the value, at the new low prices, is unmatchable!

Let us show you these good instruments—tomorrow!

SOME SMILES

She Was Visible.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" asked the young man who was quaffing a 35-cent soft drink.

"Ordinarily," replied the fair soda jerker, "I'd think you were trying to get fresh with me, but I was on the stage before hard times hit the show business. Maybe you have seen me somewhere."

Dubious Compliment.

Flaherty—Ondade Oi will that, Mrs. O'Brien. Shure, it's the height av politeness to ate a sicond piece av such cake as this.

Temporary Relief.

"Henry, the Gadders want us to come over and hear their phonograph."

"Umph! It isn't necessary for us to go over to their house to do that. The only way I can keep from hearing that infernal phonograph of theirs is to go into the bathroom and turn on all the faucets."

Right on the Job.

"Just because she was married, a woman the other day undertook to lecture me on the way I ought to behave."

"Why didn't you tell her to mind her own business?"

"She'll say that was what she was doing—you see, she was my wife."

The GIRL A HORSE AND A DOG

By FRANCIS LYNDE

COPYRIGHT BY CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

At the end of the hour the float hadn't moved a hair's-breadth; not a hundredth part of an inch, so far as we could see.

"I don't believe the pumps are working!" I exploded. "Surely they'd make some little difference in the level unless that shaft's got all the underground water in the world to back it up. Those indicators must be out of whack in some way. Where does the discharge water empty itself?"

Daddy knew this, too.

"Over in the left-hand gulch—into the creek."

"Show me," I directed.

We found the discharge from the pumps a little way below the end of the path; a ten-inch pipe which had been laid underground from the shaft-house, presumably to keep it from freezing in winter. The end of the pipe stuck out over the stream and it was projecting pretty nearly a solid ten-inch jet of water. The pumps were working all right; there was no doubt about that. I dug up enough of my college math to figure that two six-inch streams would just about fill a ten-inch pipe, and here it was, running full and pouring like another torrent into the gulch. So back we went to the mine buildings to pile more wood into the furnaces and to resume our watching of the indicator and its pencil-marked scale.

Noon caught up with us after a while—with nothing doing save that we were rapidly diminishing our wood-pile. For a solid week we chopped down trees and split them up, Daddy and I, and kept the fires roaring under the boilers, and kept those monster pumps whirring and grinding away at the shaft mouth—night and day, mind you; watch on and watch off. And, right straight through it all, that little indicator weight I had rigged up stood stock still; never moved the width of one of the pencil marks I had drawn on its gauge board.

By this time, my stubbornness was yielding something to the still more stubborn fact. If all this pumping hadn't even started the flood toward its diminution, truly all the waters under the earth must be backing the unfailing well of that drowned shaft.

Toward the last I think we kept on more from force of habit than anything else, but at the end of the week I gave in and consented to let the fires die down, though it was like pulling teeth to do it. Something, indeed, I brought out of the overtime work, disappointing as it had been in the major sense; I was muscled up as hard as a keg of nails; as strong as a mule, and the fierce toil of wood-chopping and boiler-firing had given me an appetite for real work that fairly made me ache when I thought of stopping. We thrashed it out that evening, the three of us before the living room fire, after Daddy and I had finally stopped the pumps and let the steam run down.

"I reckon you hain't no call to take it so hard, Stannie," Daddy said, after I had growled and grouched like a bear with a sore head over our failure. "After all, you must recollect that it ain't no skin off 'm you if the old Cinnabar stays right where she is and soaks till kingdom come."

I Consented to Let the Fires Die Down.

"No skin off of me?" I yelped, with a sort of wild laugh. "Listen—both of you," and then I told them the entire heart-breaking story of Cousin Percy's letter and my grandfather's joke; of my starting out on the fantastic search for the girl, a horse and a dog—a search which would doubtless have failed before it had fairly begun if I hadn't happened to ride in a Pullman smoker with the man, Charles Bullerton.

I remembered afterward that I had got just that far—to the naming of Bullerton—when Barney, the pie-faced collie, got up from his corner of the hearth, stalked to the door and began to growl. The next minute we heard a horse's sh-r-r, and Daddy Hiram rose, pushed the dog aside and opened the door. Then Jeanie and I, still sitting before the fire, heard him say gruffly: "Well, hello, Obarley Bullerton! What in Sam Hill are you doin' up in this neck o' woods?"

I turned to look at Jeanie—and missed. In the moment when I had glanced aside she had vanished.

When Bullerton came in, which was after Daddy Hiram had lighted the lantern and shown him where to put his horse, he didn't seem half as much surprised to find me sitting before the Twombly house fire as I thought he might have been.

"Well, well!—look who's here!" he bantered. "How are you, Broughton? This old world isn't so infernally big as it might be, after all, is it? Who would have thought that our next meeting would be in such an out-of-the-way corner of the universe as this! I hope you've been well and chipper, all these weeks."

I said what I was obliged to, and wasn't any too confoundedly cordial about it, either, I guess.

Bullerton drew up a chair and began to talk, much as if we'd invited him to, about his hard-working year in South America; about the fabulously rich mines in that far-away Utopia of the gold-diggers; about his voyage up from the Isthmus; about the oddness of his meeting me on the train, combined with the more excruciating oddness of his meeting me again, here in the Eastern Timanyonis; things like that.

He was just comfortably surging along in the swing of it when a door opened behind us and he jumped up with another "Well, well, look who's here!" and when I turned, he was holding Jeanie's two hands in his and braying over her like a wild ass of the plains. And, if you'll believe me, that girl had gone and changed her dress! That is what she went to do when she slipped out and left me to stare at her empty chair, after she had heard her father say, "Well, hello, Charley Bullerton!"

It was all off with me from that time on. For what was left of the evening, Bullerton played a solo. I got full-up on the performance about nine o'clock, and climbed my ladder and went to bed, muffling my head in the blankets so that I wouldn't have to lie there and listen to the bagpipe drone of Bullerton's voice in the room below.

I hoped—without the least shadow of reason for the hope, of course—that the next morning would show me a hole in the atmosphere in the space that Bullerton had occupied. But there was no such luck. He was present at the breakfast table, as large as life and twice as talkative.

I made my escape from the cabin as soon as I could and tramped over to the mine. A glance into the shaft showed the black pool in its depths as placid and untroubled as if we hadn't just lifted a million or so cubic feet of water out of it by hard labor.

In morose discouragement I recalled the few things I had learned about drowned mines while I was knocking about in the Cripple Creek district trying to trace Bullerton. Particularly I remembered my talk with Hilton, the man who had finally put me upon what had proved to be the right track in the tracing job. He had talked quite freely. Sometimes the flood was only the tapping of an underground stream, as when one digs a well; in other cases—and these were most common in the Cripple Creek region—the source of the flood would be found in a buried lake or reservoir, large or not so large, as the luck might have it. If the source were a lake—so Hilton had said—there was little use in trying to pump the mine dry.

Mulling over these discouraging bits of information, I was naturally led back to the Pullman smoking-room talk with Bullerton, I remembered, with a sharp little flick of the memory whip, that he had given an expert opinion, which, as it seemed, he had backed up a year earlier with a thousand dollars of real money—the deposit in the Omaha bank made to cover my grandfather's bargain binder. What he had said was, "I'm reasonably certain that I discovered a way in which that mine can be drained at comparatively small expense."

Had he really discovered a way?—and with no better data than a study of the maps? Staring down at the black pool which Daddy and I hadn't been able to lower by so much as a fraction of an inch in a week's pumping, I doubted it.

I was stumbling out toward the engine room with my head down and my hands in my pockets when I heard footsteps coming from the direction of the cabin beyond the dump. Looking out, I saw Bullerton sauntering over toward the shaft-house. Though I knew that some sort of a wrangle with him was inevitable, I was perfectly willing to postpone it, so I edged into the blacksmith shop and sat down on the anvil, hoping he might miss me and go away. But there was nothing coming to me on that bet.

"I saw your head when you left the house," he began, after he had found me and had dusted off an empty dynamite box for a seat. "Don't you think you've played it rather low down on me?"

"How so?"

"By taking in my story of this mine when I told it to you without giving me a hint that you were the person most deeply interested—since my old gentleman was your grandfather."

"It didn't strike me that way, and it doesn't yet," I shot back. "I notice you were mighty careful not to tell me the name of your old gentleman—or rather, I should say, you lied about it when I wired you."

"An ordinary business precaution," he chuckled. "But we needn't waste our time bickering over what might have been—and wasn't. I have a contract with your grandfather which is legally binding upon you as his heir to this particular piece of property—always provided you can prove that you are his heir. What I'm here to say is that I'm ready to carry out my part of the contract; to unwater this mine. What do you say?"

"How are you going to do it?"

"That, my young friend, is particularly my own affair."

I felt pretty scrappy that morning; there is no use in denying it.

"You're not the only pebble on the beach, Bullerton," I said, looking him squarely in the eye. "What you can do with this mine, another mining engineer can do quite as well; and the other man will probably be willing to do it without asking the fenced-in earth for his reward."

"Humph!" he grunted; "so that's your play, is it?" Then, after a scowling pause: "You're licked before you begin. You're fighting without ammunition, Broughton. You haven't any money, and you'll look a long time before you'll find an engineer able to finance his own experiment on your drowned proposition."

RED CROSS GIVES ANNUAL BUDGET

$19,361,657 Allotted for Current Program of Relief and Service.

MILLIONS FOR VETERAN AID

Medical Aid for European Children Will Cost $6,000,000 This Year.

Washington.—Expenditures totalling $19,361,657 for carrying through its program of relief and services in the United States and overseas are outlined in the budget of the American Red Cross for the current fiscal year. This total is more than $5,000,000 lower than the expenditure during the last fiscal year, when the disbursements reached $24,402,741, it is announced at National Headquarters in a statement calling attention to the necessity of continued support of the organization by response to the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24, if the vital work of the society is to be effectively carried on.

Outstanding among the items of the domestic budget is the appropriation of $3,869,256 for work in behalf of the disabled ex-service man and his family. This appropriation represents the amount alloted to this work from National Headquarters only and does not take into consideration the millions being spent in chapters for relief of the World War veteran. It is in the chapter that the greater amount is spent in meeting this obligation of the Red Cross, the announcement continues, as manifested by figures of the fiscal year 1920-1921 when the total was approximately $5,000,000, of which $2,602,096 represented the disbursement of National Headquarters while the remainder was the chapters' contribution to this field of Red Cross service.

Vast Work for Disabled.

Chief among the sub-divisions of the appropriation for work with veterans is that which concerns itself with assistance to disabled men and women in government hospitals. This item of $1,700,000, an increase of more than $500,000 over the appropriation for the same work in last year's budget, will provide those personal services for the disabled and their families which are indispensable to supplement those provided by the government. The director of the Veterans' Bureau has recently expressed his desire that the Red Cross should continue and extend these "humanizing services." Other items of the appropriation for veterans' relief are proportionately increased. An additional appropriation of $169,800 has been made for Red Cross work in connection with regular Army and Navy hospitals and with the regular Army and Navy.

For disaster relief, the Red Cross has set aside for the current twelve months an appropriation of $543,976, virtually doubling the appropriation for the same purpose for the fiscal year 1920-1921.

More than $2,000,000 is provided for service and assistance to the 3,600 Red Cross chapters by the national organization.

Helping Destitute Children

Other items of the domestic budget include $498,546 for miscellaneous activities, including contributions restricted for special purposes and $768,600 for management. Each of these items represents large reductions over similar appropriations of the previous year.

From a fund of $10,000,000, $5,000,000 of which was contributed through the European Relief Council campaign and $5,000,000 allotted by the Red Cross for child welfare work in Europe, there remains $3,765,108 still available, of which it is estimated that $6,000,000 will be required for this work during the current year. For Red Cross participation in the joint effort to relieve famine conditions in Russia, for final work in the China famine, for Junior Red Cross and other overseas activities including the closing of the old general relief program in Europe $4,978,000 is made available.

In announcing the national budget, the Red Cross makes it clear that the figures do not include chapter expenditures or place any cash estimate on the invaluable service of volunteers in chapters.

THE SOISSON.

"LESSONS IN LOVE"—The feature picture today, is a typical Constance Talmadge story, replete with sparkling comedy situations in a most amazing and fascinating plot It is an adaptation of Douglas Murray's stage play, "The Man from Toronto" Constance has the stellar role of Lelia Calthorpe, a young and winsome heiress, whose elderly guardian "conspires" with the family lawyer to marry her to a man she has never seen. The complications which result from their efforts to make her "happy" figure in a chain of rapid-fire comedy that is certain to delight even the most critical of picture patrons. Kenneth Harlan, who appeared with her recently, in "Dangerous Business," will once more be seen as Constance's leading man Others in the supporting cast include such well known screen artists as George Fawcett, who has appeared with Constance in many of her successes, Flora Finch former partner of the late John Bunny, Florence Short, James Harrison, Frank Webster and Louise Lee. Hallan has the role of the young Westerner whom Uncle Henry Winkley picks as an ideal lifemate for Lelia Webster portrays Uncle Henry Lelia's guardian, and George Fawcett enacts the part of the family lawyer Thursday, Friday and Saturday Monroe Salisbury will be seen in "The Barbarian"

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE CALL FROM THE WILD"—The feature picture today and tomorrow, is one of the greatest scenic pictures ever filmed This is no "studio" picture It breathes the freedom of the mountain tops Its locale is the great outdoors where life for man and beast is one continual struggle against powerful enemies for existence Throughout the story runs a thread of love—not the love of the cowboy hero for the painted siren of the dance hall, but the overpowering affection of an innocent boy for man's patient and best friend, the dog To be sure there are dramatic thrills and heart-touching throbs, but the play is wholesome and free from the sex problems and slap-stick comedy of recent vintage The villain escapes punishment through reformation at the phychological moment and, of course virtue draws the reward to which it always is entitled, though sometimes long deferred There is a deep moral lesson in the story, which while not a preachment, still shows the efficacy of prayer, the great reward for undying faith, and the glorious compensation for genuine love.

THE ORPHEUM.

"MIDSUMER MADNESS," from the brilliant society novel by Cosmo Hamilton, is being shown today as the feature picture, The plot centers around two young married couples who are close friends One of the wives is so lavish with the outward expressions of her love for her husband that he becomes a bit tired of her Now that she is so completely won, he longs for new fields to conquer His friend's wife on the other hand, is blessed with a husband who is more interested in business than in her, she craves romance So the over-loved husband and his friend's under-loved wife are attracted to each other in a moment of folly they commit a sin that nearly ruins four lives. The cast of Midsummer Madness" includes such sterling screen players as Lois Wilson Jack Holt Lila Lee and Conrad Nagel The picture has been sumptuously produced and abounds in moments of unusual dramatic strength

Tomorrow 'Live Wires will be shown

THE ORPHEUM.

"SAWING A WOMAN IN HALF," the sensational vivisection act, a feature attraction at the Orpheum today, is presented by Foster Newell, the famous illusionist The operation consists of sawing a living woman into two parts

Put the Umpire in a Cage

Safety first, the oft-repeated warning was very religiously heeded by the umpire at a recent benefit ball game on the Pacific coast He appeared, Popular Mechanics relates at the park with a large wire contrivance that looked like an exaggerated bird cage When the game started he took his stand inside the cage On top of the cage were mounted semaphores lettered very plainly with the usual umpire's verdicts "ball" "strike" "out," etc and his decisions were announced by raising the necessary semaphor This he was not only safe from unintentional foul balls and the intentional pop bottles of irate fans who differed from his judgment but he also saved himself from much expenditure of lung power

Continuing the Story of Armistice Week Values!

Main Store and Market Closed All Day Fri., Nov. 11th

Cafeteria Open 'till 7 P. M.

A SALE OF DRESSES AT $15 and $25

THESE smart little models arrived just in time for us to include them in our Armistice Day celebration events Certainly they are piquant, and certainly they have charm And certainly they are priced at a level that should bring dress-needing women flocking to Wright-Metzler's in droves!

As a companion offering there will be a sale of silk and jersey petticoats and pettibockers Former prices ($3 95 to $15) will be discounted Wednesday and Thursday 20%

—Women's Apparel Section, Second Floor

At $15

YOU find frocks of Poiret Twill and tricotine, some demurely plain and others more emphatic in their embroideries. Peter Pan-like collars, lightened by artillery red braids are a favorite trimming device. The popular Bramley dresses in jersey are included. Former values ran as high as $20.75.

At $25

ENTER the clingy crepes, the smoother satins, the jerseys, twills and tricotines. Afternoon wear will claim these models in Canton Crepe, Crepe de Chine and Satin. Street wear will favor the tricotines and over popular Poiret Twill. Regular values run as high as $35.

Baby isn't forgotten!

HE'S as much right to be prettied up Armistice Day as anybody! Therefore these Specials!
